Mona Plummer Aquatic Center

The Mona Plummer Aquatic Center, located at the intersection of Veterans Way and College Street on the campus of Arizona State University, is regarded as one of the country's finest outdoor swimming and diving facilities.

The plant, which opened in July, 1981, consists of three pools — an Olympic-size, 50 meter by 25 yards, seven-foot deep competition pool with a movable bulkhead; a 25-yard, 18-foot diving well; and a 25-yard eight-lane warm-up pool.

The complex also offers a diving tower. The tower has three platforms (5, 7.5 and 10 meters), four springboards and a pair of 1- and 3-meter boards, which flank the tower.

The Mona Plummer Aquatic Center, which seats 2,000 spectators, was host to the 1993 and 1998 Pac-10 Diving Championships. In 1999 it hosted the NCAA Zone E Diving Championships. The complex also served as the site to the Pac-10 and NCAA Zone E Diving Championships in 1991 and 1989. Other notable events which have been held at the complex include the 1990 U.S. Junior National Diving Championship, the 1988 USS Junior National West Region Championship, the U.S. Masters Diving Championship and a 1988 competition between ASU and Team USA prior to the Olympic Games. In 1983 the WCAA Championship and a water polo exhibition between the U.S. National team and ASU also took place at the complex.

The formal dedication for the aquatic center was held Oct. 31, 1986 after the Arizona State Board of Regents named the facility on Mar. 1, 1985, after the late Mona Plummer.

Plummer, who passed away during the spring of 1985, served as the head women's swimming coach for 22 years (1957-79) at ASU and coached the Sun Devils to eight national championships. She was named assistant athletic director in 1975 before being promoted to associate athletic director duties in 1977.

While at ASU, Plummer tutored nine Olympians and nearly four dozen all-Americans. The graduate of the University of Alabama was selected the national coach of the year in 1979, when the Sun Devils finished second at the AIAW Championships after winning the 1977 and 1978 titles. ASU captured the national crown from 1967 through 1974.

"She was the premier swimming coach during her era and her success helped all other women's sports at Arizona State University prosper," said former ASU associate athletic director Herman Frazier. "The dedication of our aquatic center could not have gone to a better person."

Arizona State UNIVERSITY

The Arizona State main campus is located on 722 acres in the heart of downtown Tempe and just minutes from the busy nightlife of Mill Avenue. With its shady malls, cool fountains, lush plantings, Arizona State's campus has long been known as an "oasis in the desert."

ASU's Tempe campus offers more than 100 majors through eight colleges and schools, 94 bachelors degree programs, 92 masters degrees, a highly regarded law degree and 51 doctoral degrees.

The Barrett Honors College is recognized as one of the nation's best. Its 2005-2006 freshmen class had an average SAT score of 1,318 and included 155 National Merit Scholars. Almost 100 percent of students in the college who apply to medical and law school are accepted. The college was also named one of the nation's top honors colleges in Reader's Digest's 100 Best Issue.

ASU ranks fourth among public universities in the U.S. in the number of freshman National Merit Scholars. There are currently 532 National Merit Scholars currently studying at ASU.

Longtime lead announcer for ABC's Monday Night Football and the current play-by-play voice of NBC's Sunday Night Football, Al Michaels is one of several prominent alumni to have attended Arizona State.

Life in THE VALLEY

Tempe is home to the P.F. Chang's Rock 'N' Roll Marathon, which ends just outside Sun Devil Stadium.

With its spectacular desert landscaping and colorful sunsets, the Valley of the Sun is home to 2.3 million people and is the vacation destination for 10 million people annually.

Concerts and block parties are just part of the bustling nightlife of Mill Avenue, a restaurant district that is the center of activity in downtown Tempe.

The Phoenix sports scene includes the Suns of the NBA, the Mercury of the WNBA, the Coyotes of the NHL, the Cardinals of the NFL, the Rattlers of the Arena Football League and the 2001 World Champion Arizona Diamondbacks of MLB in addition to the hometown Arizona State Sun Devils.

The Sporting News named Phoenix the fourth-best sports city in the United States in 2000.

ASU's own Sun Devil Stadium, located on the banks of Tempe Town Lake, is home to the Insight Bowl and has played host to four national championship games and one Super Bowl.

The Phoenix metropolitan area boasts over 325 days of sunshine each year with an average temperature of 85 degrees.

Athletic FACILITIES

The Arizona State Department of Intercollegiate Athletics recently moved back into the newly renovated Nadine and Ed Carson Student-Athlete Center. The 165,000-square foot facility houses the entire athletic department and gives ASU one of the finest student-athlete centers in the country. A Sun Devil student-athlete can accomplish everything he or she needs to do in a given day from meeting with an academic adviser to taping and treatment to getting ready for practice without leaving the building.

Academics Coach
for Swimming & Diving

- Since ASU head coach Mike Chasson took over the program, the men and women have collected 108 Pac-10 All-Academic honors.
- The 2004 team produced the highest combined GPA in the history of the swimming and diving program.
- In 2005, there were 15 Pac-10 All-Academic selections (6 men, 9 women) and there were 29 maroon and gold scholars from the swimming and diving teams.
- ASU is a Doctoral/Research-Extensive I Institution, the highest distinction of the prestigious Carnegie Foundation classification system.
- ASU's Tempe campus offers more than 100 majors through eight colleges and schools, 94 bachelors degree programs, 92 masters degrees, a highly regarded law degree and 51 doctoral degrees.
- For the 10th time in 10 years, ASU has had a student on USA Today's list of the nation's Top 40 undergraduates. Since USA Today began naming the top undergraduates in 1991, ASU has been a leading university in the number of students chosen for the USA Today Academic First-Team honors (Top 20 undergraduates), currently ranking second in the country behind Harvard.
- The Barrett Honors College is at its largest enrollment (2,700). Almost 100 percent of students in the college who apply to medical and law school are accepted.
- ASU ranks third among public universities in the U.S. in the number of freshman National Merit Scholars enrolling last year (173). There are currently 444 National Merit Scholars studying at ASU.
- ASU students have impressive records for Congressional Goldwater Scholarships (mathematics, science and engineering), British Marshall Scholarships (academics and leadership), Truman Scholarships (careers in public service) and Udall Scholarships (environmental/Native American).
- Last year's 10 Fulbright grants to ASU students put ASU at number seven among public universities for this award.
- ASU students this year won more NSEP/David L Boren Scholarships for study overseas than any other university in the US.
- ASU is known as a powerhouse in national scholarship circles. This year, a record 27 ASU students won national competitions for elite academic awards.
- ASU's strong academic programs, great campus life and prime location made it one of the "12 Hottest Colleges" in the 2003 "How to Get Info College" guide published by Kaplan and Newsweek.

The Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication is among the top 20 accredited journalism programs nationally with broadcasting, journalism and mass communication graduate and undergraduate programs.

Head Coach Michael Chasson

Beginning his ninth year as head coach for the Arizona State swimming teams, Michael Chasson has guided the Sun Devils to success levels not seen in Tempe for over 15 years. As the first coach to officially head both the men's and women's swimming programs at ASU, he arrived on campus in 1998 with the dual challenge of rebuilding both programs into top-level national finishers annually. The progress the teams have made under Chasson's watch is evident.

This past season, ASU's men's team finished in the NCAA top-20 for a fifth consecutive season, and Chasson's swimmers earned a total of six All-America honors, and six new school records were established over the course of the season. The women's team was headlined by Caitlin Andrew, who set new school records in the 100 free, 100 back and 100 fly events, while the men's team was guided by All-Americans Lucas Azevedo and Gal Nevo.

In 2004-05, both the men's and women's teams finished in the NCAA top-20 for the fourth consecutive year, as well as a fifth (men) and sixth (women) place finishes in the Pac-10. In just his fifth season with the Sun Devils, Chasson led both the men's and women's teams to top-12 NCAA finishes, the first time that has happened since 1987 and only the third time in Sun Devil history.

Equally significant to Chasson has been ASU's performance beyond the national standings, tallying 51 school records, over 200 All-America honors and the fourth NCAA individual event title all-time for men's swimming (Attila Czene, 200 IM, 2000). In his short tenure, his coaching talents have attracted the likes of Olympic gold medalists Attila Czene and Ágnes Kovács to Tempe to don the maroon and gold, in addition to Pan American Games medalists Nick Brunelli and Florencia Szigeti. Chasson has also had his own international experiences, serving as an Olympic coach for the Egypt swim team in the 2004 Athens Summer Olympic Games.

When Chasson arrived at Arizona State, the men finished 16th in his inaugural season of 1999, with the women placing 23rd. The men then earned only their fourth top-10 finish in 13 seasons in 2000 (10th) and followed it up with 14th-place finishes in 2001 and 2002. The women meanwhile rattled-off back-to-back 21st-place efforts in '00 and '01, and then cracked the top 10 for the first time since the 1993 season with a 10th place finish at the NCAA's in '02, a feat they repeated '03.

Chasson's Sun Devils have been equally impressive in the classroom. The 2004 squad produced the highest team GPA in school history for the swimming program. In 2003 the women's squad came off a year that saw the CSCAA recognize the entire group as "superior" academically, the highest level a team can achieve, while four women were named first-team Academic All-Americans. Over the past six years, both the men and the women have collected an impressive 108 Pac-10 All-Academic honors.

All the while, Chasson has not forgotten the greater community around him. Every fall and spring, in a generous service, Chasson turns his student athletes into teachers by offering inexpensive swimming lessons to children ages 5-18.

Chasson, 54, came to Arizona State from Harvard University, where he led the Crimson to six Eastern Seaboard Championships and seven NCAA appearances in seven seasons.

His best run at Harvard came in his final season of 1997-98, when the school qualified nine swimmers for the NCAA Championships and finished 11th. During his tenure in Cambridge, Mass., Crimson swimmers broke 27 school records and earned All-America honors 35 times.

Success came quickly to Chasson, who led Harvard to the NCAA Championships in his very first season with a 21st-place finish. A three-time Ivy League Coach of the Year, Chasson also led Harvard squads to the NCAA's in 1996 (16th) and '97 (18th) and compiled a 68-11 record.

In 1997, Chasson was the head men's swimming coach for the U.S. national team at the World University Games and in 1993 he was an assistant for the USA Pan Pacific Team.

Before arriving at Harvard in July of 1991, Chasson spent three seasons as an assistant women's coach at Stanford. During his time on The Farm, Chasson worked with Olympic coach Richard Quick in leading the Cardinal to one NCAA Championship ('89) and a pair of NCAA runner-up finishes ('90, '91). Chasson, whose primary task was to coach the breaststrokers and sprinters, was instrumental in the development of NCAA Champions Jill Johnson, Janel Jorgensen and Lori Heisick, as well as eight other NCAA All-Americans.

Chasson brings a coaching philosophy to ASU that breeds attention and results. "I think if you want to achieve success then you want to have high goals," says Chasson. "I think the teams have to take their training to a higher level so they can start achieving those kinds of goals."

From a training standpoint, Chasson believes that his swimmers need to develop a strong aerobic base. Once that base is established, then his coaching is concentrated on trying to make the swimmers excel at their best events.

"I believe there has to be great communication between the coaches and the athletes," says Chasson. "We are constantly trying to make sure they know what is expected and that we as a coaching staff are available for whatever concerns there may be."

Chasson graduated from Stanford in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in political science, and earned his teaching credential in secondary education from San Jose State University in 1977. He began his coaching career as the head coach of the Los Altos Aquatic Club (Los Altos, Calif.) in 1974 and spent six years there before accepting the same position at the Santa Barbara Swim Club (SBSC) in Santa Barbara, Calif. During his tenure at the SBSC, Chasson placed swimmers in the top-eight at nine senior nationals. SBSC placed in the top-10 in team scoring five times in Chasson's eight years at the club. Chasson also tutored swimmers at the SBSC who placed at the World Championships and Pan American Games. Among the pupils he coached at the SBSC was Richard Schroeder, a gold medalist in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul.

Chasson's wife, Jill, was a 1992 Olympian competing in the 200 breaststroke. The couple are proud parents of Alex, born on May 22, 2000 and Caroline, born on November 4, 2002.

Head Diving Coach Mark Bradshaw

Mark Bradshaw returns for his tenth year at the helm of the Arizona State diving program where his impact on the program has been unmistakable, generating eight All-Americans while writing and rewriting ASU record book in 11 of 14 diving disciplines.

In 2006, Bradshaw guided seniors Brant Bingham and Joona Puhakka to NCAA Championship appearances, where Puhakka was the national runner-up in both the one-meter and three-meter diving events. Puhakka earned Pac-10 and Zone E Diving championships in both events, becoming an eight-time champion at both invitationals and earned All-America honors in each event.

The 2005 season saw Bradshaw lead the ASU diving program to more successes, capturing three Pac-10 titles and two NCAA titles. Bradshaw was named 2005 NCAA Diving Coach of the Year and has won four straight men's Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year awards, while also earning the women's Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year award in 2004.

Bradshaw guided Joona Puhakka to his fourth national championship, winning both the 1-meter and 3-meter events at the 2005 NCAA's. Under Bradshaw's tutelage, Puhakka achieved tremendous success during his third year in Tempe. In addition to sweeping the springboard events at the NCAA meet, the native of Finland, has won six Pac-10 championships and has swept the 1-meter and 3-meter events at the Zone E Diving Championships.

Bradshaw also saw successes on the women's side, as departed senior Trisha Tumlinson set several school records en route to winning Pac-10 titles in the platform (2004-05) and the 3-meter (2004) as well as the platform and 1-meter events at the Zone E Diving Championships. In 2004, Tumlinson placed second at the NCAA Championships on the platform. Puhakka and Tumlinson were both named Pac-10 Diver of the Year in 2004, while Puhakka has won the award three straight years.

In 2003, Bradshaw took two newcomers to the Sun Devil program - one man and one woman - to the NCAA Championships, where those student-athletes brought home three medals, including one NCAA title. Bradshaw's outstanding leadership earned him the highest honor in the program's history when he was named the 2003 men's NCAA Diving Coach of the Year. He was also named the men's Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year.

Bradshaw guided Puhakka to the first national title for a Sun Devil male diver in 35 years. Puhakka set four school records, won both the 1-meter and 3-meter titles at the Pac-10 Championships and took first in both the 1-meter and 3-meter events at the Zone E Diving Championships. Bradshaw saw his protégé go the entire season without being beaten on the 1-meter springboard and also become the first male diver in Sun Devil history to win two Pac-10 championships in the same year.

Bradshaw also coached Tumlinson to a third place finish at the NCAA's on the platform and saw her break three school records. Puhakka and Tumlinson were both named the Pac-10 Newcomers of the Year while Puhakka was also named Pac-10 Diver of the Year. Bradshaw's knack for developing new talent is well-known as only one year prior he guided Thomas McCrummen to Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year status.

Among his prior standout divers was All-American Marc Briggs, who in just two seasons with Bradshaw accumulated five school records and the first Pac-10 Championship for men's diving since 1983 (3-meter, 2000).

Bradshaw came to ASU from Ohio University, where he helped lead the women to a second-place finish and the men to a fifth-place showing at the 1997 Mid-American Conference Championships. Bradshaw's successful stint at Ohio University is exemplified by the fact he was named head coach at mid-season.

Prior to coaching at Ohio, Bradshaw was the first full-time diving coach hired at the United States Military Academy. It did not take long for Bradshaw to make his mark as he was named the Metro Conference Diving Coach of the Year after his first year.

Bradshaw prides himself on running a diving program that provides opportunities for the student-athletes to work hard toward achieving their goals. He strongly believes that "you get exactly what you put into it."

Bradshaw implemented that same philosophy in making himself a world-class diver. A member of the U.S. National Diving Team for 16 years, Bradshaw won a slew of awards including the United States/Phillips 66 Diver of the Year, and the 1990 U.S. Male Diver of the Year. In addition, Bradshaw was also a seven-time national champion.

Bradshaw has a great deal of international experience as well, having competed in the F.I.N.A. World Cup, World University Games and the World Aquatic Championships. He is also a two-time silver medalist in the Pan American Games. Bradshaw reached the pinnacle of international competition when he competed at the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, placing fifth in the 3-meter competition.

Bradshaw, who graduated from Ohio State with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1985 and a master's degree in the same discipline in 1987, was a four-year NCAA All-American in the 1 and 3-meter events. He not only dove with great technique, but with great consistency as well. Bradshaw was named the Big Ten Diver of the Year two consecutive years and was the Big Ten diving champion three times in a four-year span. In addition, he was also named the MVP of the Buckeyes' squad in 1982, '83 and '84. The highlight of Bradshaw's collegiate career came in 1983 when he was crowned the NCAA's 3-meter champion.

In 1993, Ohio State recognized Bradshaw's great career by inducting him into the school's athletic Hall of Fame.

A native of Springfield, Ore., Bradshaw graduated from Springfield High School in 1980, where he was a four-year Oregon state diving champion, four-year letterman, two-time All-America and school MVP.

Though Bradshaw's collegiate roots are embedded in the Big Ten, his pedigree has a Pac-10 flavor. His mother was a cheerleader at Washington State and his father a varsity baseball player at Oregon State.

An avid golfer, Bradshaw enjoys outdoor activities when he is not coaching. He has one son, Cameron (17).

Coaches/Support Staff

Annemarie Miskovic Associate Head Coach

Annemarie Miskovic begins her fourth season as a member of the coaching staff with the Arizona State swimming and diving program. After a year as an assistant coach, Miskovic got elevated to Associate Head Coach in 2004 and also serves as the women's recruiting coordinator.

A native of Rijeka, Croatia, Miskovic returned to Tempe following four years at the University of Virginia. After earning her Bachelor of Science degree in Exercise Science and Physical Education from the University of Zagreb in 1996, Miskovic came to ASU and served as a volunteer assistant coach (1996-98), while she was working on her master's degree in motor learning and development.

In her duties with the team, Miskovic works primarily with the individual medley swimmers, as well as the backstroke and butterfly specialists. During her tenure with the Sun Devil women's swimmers, she worked with stroke and individual medley student-athletes, culminating with former ASU standout Carolyn Adel earning berths into NCAA championship meets. In her first year back with the Sun Devils (2003-04 season), she worked with the individual medley group and coached freshman Amanda Gillespie to a school-record performance in the 800m freestyle relay at the 2004 NCAA Championships that earned the rookie All-America honors. Miskovic also coached several of the Sun Devils swimmers that represented their nations at the 2004 Athens Olympics. In addition to her coaching duties, Miskovic also serves as the Sparky Swim Camp Director.

At Virginia, she primarily worked with sprinters on both the men's and women's squads, coaching numerous All-Americans, conference champions and school record holders. She sent athletes to the 2000 Olympic Trials and coached the women's 200 free relay to a conference record and Top 8 finish at the 2002 NCAA Championships. During her four years at UVA, the Cavalier men claimed four ACC titles and progressed from 13th place at NAAs to their first Top 10 finish in 2003. The Cavalier women recorded three ACC runner-up finishes and won the conference title in 2003. Miskovic also brings the experience of age group coaching with Sun Devil Aquatics and the Charlottesville Youth Aquatic Club, in addition to six years of coaching with the renowned Croatian swim club, Mladost, where she won a national team title with swimmers 12 and under in 1996. Miskovic is married to Neal Rioux, the couple currently resides in Tempe.

Greg Winslow Assistant Coach

Greg Winslow returns for his fourth year with the Arizona State swimming and diving program as an assistant coach. Winslow coached NCAA All-Americans, 2004 Olympic swimmers and US Olympic team trials qualifiers in his two seasons with ASU. In addition to his coaching duties, Winslow serves as the men's recruiting coordinator and is the head coach for Sun Devil Aquatics.

Winslow came to Tempe after four years of developing the Falfins Swim Team in Colorado Springs into a regional powerhouse while also serving as an assistant coach at the Air Force Academy for the past two years. Under Winslow's leadership the Falfins swim team grew from 40 swimmers in 1999 to over 140 swimmers in 2003. In only his second season with the team, he was named the 2001 Colorado Coach of the Year. Winslow led the Falfins to Olympic Trials, Nationals, Sectionals and state competitions while the Falfins swimmers smashed over 85 Colorado state records. Winslow also just finished his second year as an assistant coach of the Air Force Academy's men's swim team in 2003.

After graduating from college, Winslow began work on his Masters degree in athletic administration and coached the St. Cloud State University Huskies. He helped lead the program to its best season ever, with both the men's and women's squads finishing in the top 15 at the 1999 NCAA Division II National Championships.

Winslow is a former All-American swimmer for the University of North Dakota, where he was elected team captain two years in a row. During his college summers, he coached the Valley Swim Club in Colorado. He led the club to a state championship and was named the 1997 Colorado Summer Club Coach of the Year. Greg was married in August 2002 to his wife Jessica.

Simon Percy Assistant Coach

Simon Percy, a 13-year coaching veteran, enters his first season as an assistant swimming and diving coach at ASU and is also the Sun Devil Masters head coach. Percy swam at ASU from 1990-94, and ranks fourth in ASU history in the 200 IM and eighth in the 400 IM. He also competed in the 1991 World Championships, 1992 Olympics and the 1992 Pan-Pac's.

Percy is married to wife Suzanne and the couple resides in Tempe, Ariz.

Nick Brunelli Assistant Coach

Nick Brunelli begins his first season as an assistant coach after serving as a graduate assistant last season. Brunelli is one of the most decorated swimmers in ASU history, earning four All-America distinctions, the 2004 Pac-10 Medal and the 2004 Pac-10 Championship in the 200 free. A Mansfield, Mass. native, Brunelli is a three-time U.S. Open Champion.

Brian Pursley Graduate Assistant

Brian Pursley begins his second season helping with the ASU Swimming Program. A two-year letterwinner at the Colorado School of Mines, Pursley was the 2002 NCAA Division II champion in the 100 breaststroke. He also swam two years at North Carolina State.

Mike Novell Graduate Assistant

Mike Novell enters his second season with the Sun Devils. Born in Detroit, but growing up in The Valley, Novell attend Arizona State as an undergraduate while coaching elite age group swimmers at the club level for the past seven years. He is currently perusing a masters degree in Urban Planning.

Christina DeSantis Sports Performance Coach

Christina DeSantis begins her first season as the Sports Performance Coach of the Arizona State Swimming and Diving program. She spent the previous year as a Sports Performance Graduate Assistant for Olympic Sports.

Originally from Binghamton, New York, Christina earned her Bachelor of Science Degree in Exercise Science from the State University of New York at Buffalo where she was a two-year letter winner in the Pole Vault on the Track and Field team. She earned her strength and conditioning specialist certification in 2005 and is currently working on her Masters of Education in Higher and Post secondary Education.

Jennifer Van Assen Volunteer Assistant

Begins her second season with Arizona State as a volunteer assistant after graduating from the University of South Carolina in 2004. Van Assen is a native of Matawan, N.J.

Cole Tedhams Volunteer Assistant

Graduated in 2006 from the University of Tampa with a degree in Business Administration. Tedhams is a six-time NCAA Division II National Champion and a resident of Phoenix, Ariz.

Tim Weesner Athletic Trainer

Tim Weesner begins his first season as athletic trainer for the Arizona State Swimming and Diving program. Weesner previously worked as a graduate assistant athletic trainer with Iowa State University's Women's Swimming and Diving teams during the 2004-05 and 2005-06 seasons.

Weesner graduated from Iowa State University in 2003 with a B.S. in Exercise Science, and earned his Master's Degree from Iowa State University in 2006.

Weesner is married to wife Molly, and has a daughter, Ellie (2).

Amy Freeman Assistant Athletic Trainer

Amy Freeman enters her second season with ASU's swimming and diving program. A native of Bend, Ore., Freeman graduated from the University of Idaho, in 2005, where she played soccer for three years. She is currently in her final year at the Arizona School of Health Sciences in the Athletic Training Program.

SENIOR CO-CAPTAINS ABRA ARMOUR AND JILL KRIPPS

2006-07 Women's Outlook

Led by an established group of returning letterwinners and a wave of new talent, head swimming coach Mike Chasson believes Arizona State University's women's swimming and diving has the cast it needs to improve upon its 2005-06 season. ASU returns 17 swimmers and divers heading into 2006-07, and is poised to raise its performance on the national level. The squad is headlined by junior Caitlin Andrew (San Antonio, Texas), an All-American and national runner-up in the 100-yard butterfly in 2005-06. Also, the Sun Devils return sophomore Amy Konowalik (Derby, England) and sophomore diver Erin Hobbs (Calgary, Alberta) both competed at the NCAA Championships as freshmen last season.

Chasson, entering his ninth season at ASU, faces the challenge of replacing nine letterwinners from last season. The departures of All-Americans Erin Baldinger, Kathryn Hennessy, Heidi Schmidt and Sandra Steffensen will be cushioned by the improvement of ASU's talented underclassmen and highly anticipated newcomers. Veterans Christine Creek, Sarah Fischer and Ellis Schieman will be expected to contribute and compete as potential NCAA Championship qualifiers, as will senior co-captains Abra Armour and Jill Kripps.

The 2006-07 season opens at home against UNLV on Oct. 20, and the team will then take to the road in the state of Indiana for a busy weekend, facing Purdue on Oct. 27 and Indiana on Oct. 28. Pac-10 Conference competition will begin on the road, facing UCLA and USC on Nov. 10-11 in Los Angeles. ASU will compete in the Texas Invitational from Nov. 30 to Dec. 2 in Austin, Texas. The 2007 Pac-10 portion of the schedule includes conference home meets against California (Jan. 12) and Stanford (Jan. 13), and the Sun Devils close out the regular season in Tucson, Ariz., facing rival Arizona on Feb. 3.

Sprint Freestyle

This season, ASU will combine record-setting veterans and one highly-acclaimed newcomer in its sprint freestyle lineup, an event in which the Sun Devils are expected to improve significantly from a year ago.

Junior Caitlin Andrew

Caitlin Andrew returns for her junior year after posting ASU's top times on the 50 and 100 freestyle events last season and two of the top sprint freestyle times in school history, including an ASU record 49.33 finish in the 100 freestyle. Andrew also recorded the second-fastest 50 freestyle time in Sun Devil history last year (22.94).

Sophomore Jen Beckberger (Ajax, Ontario) returns as one of ASU's top freestyle swimmers, and posted the fourth-fastest 100-yard freestyle time in ASU history last season. Also, Beckberger recorded the team's second-best times in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events, both trailing Caitlin Andrew. Her top 50-yard freestyle time of the season also stands as the seventh-fastest in Sun Devil history.

the country following a very successful high school career.

"I expect that Jess Perazzo will significantly impact the sprint freestyle events, both in dual meets and in championship competition," Chasson said.

After narrowly missing the opportunity to compete in the 2006 NCAA championships, Lindsey Brown (Saginaw, Mich.) showcased tremendous improvement in the off-season. Chasson expects Brown to pick up where she left off at the end of the 2005-06 season, and contribute in the sprint freestyle events this season.

Sunnyvale, Calif. native Abra Armour, a senior and team captain, will also play a key role as a seasoned racer. In 2005-06, Armour recorded ASU's fourth-best 100-yard freestyle time of the season.

Freshmen Sara McDaniel (East Lansing, Mich.) and Mirela Kardasevic (Zagreb, Croatia) could also see action in sprint freestyle events.

Middle Distance Freestyle

The 2006-07 team returns accomplished letterwinners to compete in the middle distance freestyle events, however newcomers will be counted on to emerge to provide depth.

Beckberger, ASU's top 200-yard freestyle swimmer last season returns after having established the ninth-best all-time finish in Sun Devil history last season.

"Jen Beckberger came back after a very good summer of training and was eager to compete," Chasson said. "I believe that we are going to see improvements in all of her events, especially the 200 free."

Ellis Schieman (Shaker Heights, Ohio) is expected to be a main contributor in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle events. As a freshman in 2005-06, Schieman posted the second-best times for the season by a Sun Devil in both events and looks to improve for 2006-07. Senior Abra Armour will be competing in the 200 free as well as junior Lindsey Brown, who focused on training for the event during the off-season.

Although primarily a distance freestyle specialist, junior Sarah Fischer (Boulder, Colo.) is capable of contributing in the 500-yard freestyle, an event in which she had ASU's top time of the season in 2005-06.

Junior Emilynn Tursick (Carpinteria, Calif.) and sophomore Jenna Gamble (Tucson, Ariz.) are expected to add depth in the 500 free.

Distance Freestyle

After the graduation of All-American Kathryn Hennessy, last year's leading distance freestyle swimmer, Chasson looks to a promising group to emerge as leaders and contributors in the 1000-yard and 1650-yard freestyle events.

Sarah Fischer returns as ASU's top distance freestyle specialist, owning the top times in the 1000-yard and 1650-yard freestyle by a returning Sun Devil. Fischer is the most accomplished distance freestyle swimmer on the squad, having qualified for the NCAA Championships in 2005.

Adding depth to the lineup are sophomore Jenna Gamble and junior Emilynn Tursick. Tursick recorded the fourth-fastest 1000-yard finish time on the team last season.

Breaststroke

The combination of NCAA Championship-caliber veterans and talented newcomers gives Chasson reasons to believe that breaststroke will be one of the team's greatest strengths. The unit combines talent and depth, headlined by sophomore Amy Konowalik, who finished in the top-10 at the Pac-10

Championships in the 200-yard breaststroke as a freshman, as well as experienced senior Christine Creek.

A Derby, England native, Konowalik became ASU's top 200-yard breaststroke swimmer, recording the fifth-best time in ASU history.

Creek, a senior from Simi Valley, Calif., who earned honorable mention Pac-10 All-Academic honors last season, and recorded ASU's second-best times in the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke events last season. Having enjoyed a successful career since her arrival on ASU's campus, Creek holds the sixth-fastest time in the 200 breaststroke on ASU's all-time top-10 list.

"Christine Creek continues to improve and will certainly serve as a leader to our strong group of underclassmen," Chasson said.

The team's depth in the breaststroke events will be greatly aided by the additions of three newcomers, consisting of two freshmen and one transfer.

Junior Lindsey Russenberger (Marana, Ariz.) joins the Sun Devils by way of the University of Wyoming, where she narrowly missed qualifying for the NCAA Championships, and Chasson believes she has the potential to improve and to qualify for the NCAAs.

Freshmen Ashley Evans (Madison, N.J.) and Sara McDaniel will begin their college careers at ASU looking to contribute and build on their successful high school careers.

"Our two freshman breaststrokers bring exciting potential to the team," Chasson said. "Ashley Evans and Sara McDaniel will compete in both the 100 and 200 breaststroke and both are expected to contribute as freshmen."

Sophomore Ilene Lesch (Ann Arbor, Mich.) will compete primarily in the 100 breast and will add depth to the breaststroke lineup.

Backstroke

Led by ASU record-holder Caitlin Andrew, the backstroke events are expected to be strengths for the Sun Devils in 2006-07. Joining Andrew among the returning backstroke swimmers are Carissa Abe (Fullerton, Calif.), Rikka Brunner (Mukilteo, Wash.), Emilynn Tursick and Frankie Judy (Tucson, Ariz.).

Last season, Andrew established herself among the most accomplished backstroke swimmers in ASU history, breaking her own school record in the 100-yard backstroke, finishing in 53.81 at the Pac-10 Championships. She also recorded the second-fastest 200-yard time in school history (1:58.69 at the Texas Invitational).

Senior Carissa Abe, junior Emilynn Tursick and sophomores Rikka Brunner and Frankie Judy all return after competing in the 100-yard and 200-yard events last season. In 2005-06, Abe recorded the third-best 100-yard backstroke time, and Brunner the fifth-best, while Tursick posted the second-best 200-yard backstroke time, followed by Brunner with the third-fastest.

Frankie Judy will compete primarily in the 200 backstroke, adding depth for the Sun Devils in this event.

Senior Christine Creek

New to the fold are freshmen Mirela Kardasevic, Ashton Aubry (Leawood, Kan.) and Jamie Martinez (San Jose, Calif.). Kardasevic comes to ASU after a very successful international junior career, and will join Ashton Aubry primarily swimming the 100 back, while Jamie Martinez looks to compete in the 200 backstroke.

"We are adding strength in the backstroke events with three of our freshmen," Chasson said. "Mirela Kardasevic brings experience from international competition, while Ashton Aubry and Jamie Martinez are also expected to contribute in backstroke events."

Butterfly

ASU expects to have potent athletes swimming the butterfly events this season, headed by two-time All-America honoree and NCAA runner-up Caitlin Andrew swimming the 100-yard, while Ellis Schieman is expected to be the main 200-yard specialist. Also, Chasson expects significant contributions in the 200-yard butterfly from freshmen Ashton Aubry and Jamie Martinez, whose personal best times place them in direct competition with Schieman.

Perhaps the most accomplished 100-yard butterfly swimmer in ASU history, Caitlin Andrew returns after a stellar season in which she finished as the national runner-up in the 100-yard butterfly at the NCAA Championships, an event in which she earned All-America honors and broke her own ASU record, touching in 52.23.

Schieman recorded ASU's top 200-yard butterfly finish last season (2:01.21 at the Texas Invitational). Additionally, she posted the eighth-best time in ASU history as a freshman.

Returning for the Sun Devils in the butterfly events are seniors Jill Kripps (Seattle, Wash.) and Amanda Gillespie (Ottawa, Ontario). Kripps, a co-captain, and Gillespie will add depth at both the 100-yard and 200-yard events, while Fischer will compete for action in the 200-yard butterfly. In 2005-06, Kripps finished with the fourth-best 100-yard time on the team and the third-best 200-yard butterfly time. As a sophomore last year, Fischer posted the fifth-fastest 200-yard finish by a Sun Devil swimmer.

"Our butterfly lineup is very strong for the upcoming season," Chasson said. "Our returning swimmers are led by Caitlin Andrew and bring a wealth of experience, while our freshmen are very talented and are expected to make an immediate impact."

Carissa Abe and Mirela Kardasevic will also compete in the 100 fly.

Individual Medley

The Sun Devils return three experienced swimmers that have seen extensive action in both the 200 and the 400 individual medley. Sophomore Amy Konowalik was the team's leading IM swimmer last season, and is expected to continue to improve, especially in the 400 IM.

Senior Christine Creek brings experience and will be an important contributor in both the 200 and 400 IM.

Senior Amanda Gillespie and junior Lindsey Russenberger are going to compete in the 200 IM and will add depth in that event.

Freshman Ashley Evans joins the Sun Devils as one of the premier high school swimmers in the nation in the 200 IM.

"Ashley Evans is expected to impact our IM events from the start of the season," Chasson said.

Senior Sarah Fischer and junior Emilyynn Tursick will strengthen the Sun Devil lineup in the 400 IM.

Relays

Chasson expects the women's relay teams to showcase greater improvement in 2006-07 than any other event within the team. The addition of talented newcomers to a core group of proven veterans leads Chasson to believe that ASU's relay performances can boost its ability to ultimately achieve an improved overall team ranking at the NCAA Championships.

ASU returns its top two freestyle relay swimmers in Caitlin Andrew and Jen Beckberger, as well as Lindsey Brown, who figures to contribute on freestyle relays. Last year, the three were parts of the 400-yard freestyle relay squad that posted the fifth-fastest finish time in school history. Also, Andrew and Beckberger return from the 200-yard freestyle relay squad that last year posted the second-best finishing time in Sun Devil history. Senior Abra Armour will also be in the mix for both relays.

Chasson has high expectations for the abilities of newcomers Jess Perazzo and Mirela Kardasevic to contribute among the 400-yard freestyle relay squad, as well as veteran Abra Armour.

"I have high expectations for our newcomers, Jess Perazzo and Mirela Kardasevic," Chasson said. "We have a great group of sprinters and it remains to be seen how the relays shape up as the season progresses. I feel confident about the end result with any four swimmers that earn spots on our fastest relays."

The 800-yard freestyle relay team returns Andrew and Beckberger, as well as Ellis Schieman. Armour, Sarah Fischer and Amanda Gillespie, all of whom have proven to be reliable in the 800 free relay.

For the medley relay teams, Chasson expects Andrew, as well as Kardasevic, to compete for the spot in backstroke, while Sara McDaniel and Ashley Evans are candidates for the breaststroke leg of the medley relay. Ashton Aubry and Andrew to compete for the butterfly leg, and candidates for the freestyle include Beckberger, Armour, Brown and Perazzo.

"Our medley relays will have a new look this season and have the ability to compete with the top relays in the conference," Chasson said. "We have multiple swimmers bidding for the spots on both our 200 and 400 medley relays."

Diving

Entering his 10th season at ASU, head diving coach Mark Bradshaw's 2006-07 squad is led by Cassidy Farwell (Glendale, Calif.), a senior and Bradshaw's most experienced diver, as well as sophomore Erin Hobbs, who qualified for the NCAA Championships last season in her first year at ASU.

Farwell, primarily a platform diver, has incrementally improved throughout her first three years at ASU, and Bradshaw believes that she is capable to make the added improvements necessary to be able to qualify to compete at the NCAA Championships in her final season.

Despite being hampered by an ankle injury early last season, Hobbs qualified for the NCAA Championships as a freshman and impressed Bradshaw with her steady improvement. Hobbs is believed to be one of the most talented divers in the Pac-10 Conference, and Bradshaw believes that she has tremendous potential for 2006-07 after fully recovering from her injury.

Freshman Jasmine Howard (Scottsdale, Ariz.) rounds out the diving depth, and although she lacks experience as a diver, Bradshaw applauds her work ethic and attitude, and believes that she will be able to be a contributing member of this year's diving team.

2006-07 Men's Outlook

After breaking into the top-15 at the NCAA Championships in 2005-06, ASU's 2006-07 men's swimming and diving team aims to continue to move up the national ranks under head swimming coach Mike Chasson.

Led by nine returning letterwinners, including two All-Americans and three of its five NCAA qualifiers from last season, ASU will rely equally on its veterans and newcomers, specifically in the relay events, to improve the team's overall performance at the NCAA Championships this season.

Chasson faces the challenge of replacing several key contributors all across the swimming and diving roster, most notably is diver Joona Puhakka, the 2005 NCAA Diver of the Year and a four-time NCAA Champion. Also, All-American David Kolozar (fly/free) and NCAA qualifying diver Brant Bingham all wrapped up their Sun Devil careers last season.

This year's squad is led by returning All-Americans sophomore Gal Nevo (1650 free and 400 IM) and junior Lucas Azevedo (honorable mention, 1650 free), in addition to NCAA Championship qualifier junior C.J. Nuess (Medical Lake, Wash.).

Junior C.J. Nuess

Headlining the eagerly anticipated field of new Sun Devils are freshman Ante Cvitkovic (Split, Croatia), sophomore Magnus Kjellberg (Stockholm, Sweden) and junior Steve Neuwert (Perth, Australia), all of whom will be expected to produce immediate contributions.

ASU faces a challenging schedule that includes its season opener at home against UNLV on Oct. 20. The team begins its Pac-10 season at USC on Nov. 11, who finished seventh last season at NCAAs. The Sun Devils will again participate in the Texas Invitational from Nov. 30 to Dec. 2 in Austin, Texas. The team wraps up its regular season schedule with conference meets against Stanford on Jan. 13, and at Arizona on Feb. 3.

Sprint Freestyle

This season, ASU will greatly rely upon international newcomers to effectively contribute in the sprint freestyle events. Chasson has high expectations for sophomore Magnus Kjellberg, and junior Steve Neuwert in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events. Both swimmers have shown great promise during summer training and figure to boost ASU's freestyle relays in addition to the individual freestyle events.

In offseason training, Neuwert displayed the ability to record top times worthy of making him ASU's top sprint freestyle specialist, while Kjellberg has also exhibited the potential to be an immediate contributor in both the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle.

ASU's top returning sprint freestyle swimmer is sophomore Mohammed Madwa (Kuwait City, Kuwait), who recorded the team's fourth-best finish in the 50-yard freestyle last season, and the squad's fifth-fastest 100-yard time as well. Chasson applauds Madwa's improvement over the summer, and believes he has the potential to be an effective freestyle relay member as well.

Freshmen Cade Judkins (Mesa, Ariz.) and Brian Anderson (Oro Valley, Ariz.) are also expected to see action in sprint freestyle events.

Middle Distance Freestyle

A mixed group of established lettermen and improving youngsters comprise to form ASU's middle distance freestyle lineup, highlighted by contributions from returning stars juniors Lucas Azevedo and Gal Nevo, and freshman Marin Naranca.

Azevedo, a junior from Belo Horizonte, Brazil, was ASU's top middle distance freestyle swimmer in 2005-06, posting the team's top times in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle events last year. His 4:20.54 finish in the 500-yard in the Pac-10 Championships stands as the sixth-best finish in that event in ASU history.

Sophomore Gal Nevo (Kibbutz Hamadia, Israel), an All-American distance freestyle specialist, has the ability to compete in the middle distance events. Nevo recorded the third-fastest 500-yard freestyle time by a Sun Devil last season.

"Sean is expected to be one of the top 200 freestylers for us this year," Chasson said. "He has a year of college swimming under his belt and should be able to improve on last year's accomplishments."

Freshman Marin Naranca, a Split, Croatia native, comes off of a successful summer competing for the Croatia Junior National Team and is expected to contribute in the 200-yard freestyle.

Sophomore Sean Boyle (Lake Elsinore, Calif.) has shown potential and improvement leading second-fastest 200-yard freestyle time of the season (1:38.50) at the Pac-10 Championships.

Distance Freestyle

Perhaps no event on the entire ASU squad is as proven and talented as the men's distance freestyle lineup. Junior Lucas Azevedo, sophomore Gal Nevo and junior C.J. Nuess, all NCAA qualifiers last season, return to lead ASU's 1000-yard and 1650-yard freestyle events.

Both Nevo (sixth) and Azevedo (ninth) finished in the top-10 in the 1650-yard freestyle at the NCAA Championships, and at the Pac-10 Championships, Nevo placed third and Azevedo fourth in the same event. Their accomplishments at the NCAA Championships enabled ASU to join USC as the only Pac-10 teams to showcase two top-10 1650-yard freestyle efforts.

"Lucas Azevedo, Gal Nevo and C.J. Nuess all did well at the NCAA Championships last season, and are all on track to improve even more this year. They all swam very well during the summer, and the distance freestyle events should be a main strength for our team," Chasson said.

Last season, the three each found their way into ASU's all-time record books in the two distance freestyle categories. Among Sun Devil all-time records, Nevo established the new standard in the 1650 free, completing the event in 14:55.54. Azevedo recorded the sixth-best 1000-yard time and the seventh-fastest 1650-yard finish, Nuess posted the eighth-best 1000-yard finish and the 10th-fastest 1650-yard time in school history. Additionally, each was in the team's top three among the season's fastest times in both distance freestyle events.

Junior Jake Fischer (Phoenix, Ariz.) and sophomore Brandon Pierson (Lake Forest, Calif.) will be competing in the distance freestyle events for the Sun Devils and are expected to contribute in dual meets.

Backstroke

Chasson expects significant improvement in the backstroke events, largely influenced by the additions of freshmen Ante Cvitkovic and Max Laney (Denver, Colo.).

Chasson regards Cvitkovic as an "NCAA Championship caliber" competitor in the backstroke, and both Cvitkovic and Laney are going to be a driving force in the backstroke events and are expected to make an immediate impact.

"We didn't have a true 100-yard backstroke swimmer last season," Chasson said. "That really hurt our relays, however, with Ante Cvitkovic and Max Laney on board, we expect significant improvement in that area for the 2006-07 season."

Sophomore Brandon Pierson (Lake Forest, Calif.), one of the team's top returning backstroke swimmers season, will compete predominately in the 200 back.

Butterfly

Heading into the 2006-07 season, Chasson and staff are counting on the development of sophomore Sean Boyle and junior John Dwelley (Brentwood,

2006-07 Men's Outlook

Calif.), and the addition of Magnus Kjellberg to ease the loss of graduated David Kolozar. C.J. Nuess will also be counted on to fill Kolozar's void in the 200-yard butterfly event.

Nuess posted the team's second-best time in the 200-yard butterfly last year, an event in which Kolozar finished fifth at the 2006 Pac-10 Championships, and will continue to compete in the 200 fly for the Sun Devils.

Dwelle recorded ASU's second-best 100-yard butterfly time last season, and looks to be ASU's main contributor in that event for 2006-07.

"We are expecting to see some improvements from our returning butterflyers and are eager to test the newcomers," Chasson said.

Kjellberg brings talent and international experience to the butterfly lineup, while Cvitkovic and Laney are also expected to compete and make an impact in the 100 fly.

Breaststroke

ASU will depend on major contributions from its newcomers in the breaststroke events, as the team must replace its top three swimmers in both the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke from last year.

Transfer Will Weeks, a junior Tucson, Ariz. native who arrives by way of the University of Wisconsin, will be called upon to help ease the losses of last year's top breaststroke specialists.

Chasson will depend on Gal Nevo and C.J. Nuess to contribute in the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke events. Last season, Nuess recorded the team's fourth-best times in both events, while Nevo posted the fifth-fastest 200-yard breaststroke time by a Sun Devil.

Individual Medley

Led by Gal Nevo and C.J. Nuess, both of whom participated in last year's NCAA Championships, ASU's 2006-07 individual medley depth figures to be among the best in the Pac-10.

Despite not joining the team until midway through the 2005-06 season, Gal Nevo posted one of the finest individual medley performances in Sun Devil history, earning All-America honors while finishing seventh at the NCAA Championships in the 400-yard individual medley. Nevo also set the ASU record in the 400-yard individual medley (3:46.07), breaking the record previously set by Cam Reid in 1983, which was ASU's oldest standing school record. In the 200-yard individual medley, Nevo recorded the fifth-fastest time in school history and ASU's top time of the season, touching in 1:48.21.

NCAA Championship qualifier C.J. Nuess also looks to be a key figure in the Sun Devils' individual medley after recording the second-best times behind Nevo's in the 200-yard and 400-yard individual medley events. Nuess owns the third-best 400-yard individual medley times in ASU history, as well as the seventh-fastest 200-yard individual medley finish in school history, both established last season.

Freshman Max Laney has the potential to make an impact in the 200 individual medley, as does Brandon Pierson, who finished in the top five on the team in both individual medley events last season.

Relays

Chasson is looking forward to seeing the improved relay squads in action this season.

"One of the biggest improvements in our NCAA finish this year should come from relay performances," Chasson said. "That is a piece of the puzzle that was missing last season."

ASU returns only sophomore Mohammed Madwa from last year's 200 freestyle relay, but with additions of junior Steve Neuwert, sophomore Magnus Kjellberg and freshman Ante Cvitkovic, this relay is looking very strong for the Sun Devils. The same group of swimmers, with the addition of sophomore Sean Boyle, junior Lucas Azevedo and freshman Marin Naranca are expected to compete for the spots in the 400 free relay.

They 800 free relay team returns Azevedo, Boyle and sophomore Gal Nevo, while junior C.J. Nuess, Naranca and Madwa will be among the swimmers looking to also compete on that relay.

Medley relay teams will also feature a new look, with several swimmers competing for each leg of the relays. Cvitkovic, freshman Max Laney and Boyle look to compete in the backstroke, freshman Will Weeks or Neuwert on breaststroke, junior John Dwelle, Boyle or Kjellberg on butterfly and Neuwert, Kjellberg and Madwa are candidates to swim the freestyle leg.

Diving

Perhaps the toughest task faced by the swimming and diving coaching staff is filling the void left by the irreplaceable Joona Puhakka, the 2005 NCAA Diver of the Year and a four-time NCAA Champion. In addition to the graduation of the incomparable Puhakka, head diving coach Mark Bradshaw must replace departed senior Brant Bingham, an NCAA qualifier last season. However, Bradshaw brings a legacy of stellar coaching ability, as he earned his fourth consecutive Pac-10 Diving Coach of the Year Award in 2005-06.

However, waiting in the wings is Micky Benedetti (Rome, Italy), a gifted redshirt freshman who sat out during the 2005-06 season. Benedetti is a talented and versatile athlete that Bradshaw believes can carry the load as the squad's top diver.

"Losing Joona Puhakka is a big deal, fortunately we have a key replacement in Micky Benedetti," Bradshaw said. "The difference that Micky Benedetti brings is that he is more of a platform diver than Joona Puhakka was, but he is also a capable springboard diver."

Sophomore Tempe, Ariz. native Billy Sweeney returns, after having greatly improved during his freshman year, impressing Bradshaw. Also, Sweeney was praised for having a very productive summer of training in preparation of his second year at ASU.

"Billy Sweeney has learned a tremendous amount during his year in our program," Bradshaw said. "It's just a matter of him getting experience in competitions and the repetitions in practice. He improved so much last year, it's unbelievable."

The storied history of Arizona State's men's and women's swimming and diving programs includes 219 All-Americans, 57 national collegiate champions and 63 Olympians.

MEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING

In 1963, Walt Schlueter and Dick Smith were presented with the challenge of coaching ASU's first men's varsity swimming and diving team. Schlueter had coached the U.S. National swimming team at the 1950 Pan-American Games. Smith, had just been named the U.S. diving coach for the '64 Olympics. It wouldn't be long before the ASU men's program was as strong as their credentials.

Two years before he'd win gold at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, Bernie Wrightson became the Sun Devils' first NCAA champion, winning the 3-meter springboard in 1966 as ASU earned what would be its best national finish until 1982: 13th. In 1968, Keith Russell matched Wrightson with an NCAA 3-meter title of his own as ASU finished 16th in the nation.

The Sun Devils wouldn't crack the national top-20 again until two years into Ron Johnson's head coaching campaign, when -- along with third-year diving coach Ward O'Connell -- he saw the Sun Devils place 20th in 1977. Helping ASU get there was Blake Johnson, who with a third-place finish in the 400 IM as a freshman, became the first ASU men's swimmer to earn All-America acclaim.

Before the 1978-79 season, ASU joined what arguably had been (and continues to be) the toughest conference in the nation for swimming and diving and proved strong, finishing fourth in the Pac-10 and 14th in the nation.

Ever-improving, by 1982 ASU not only had its best national finish of all time -- sixth -- it also had its first NCAA champion in Andy Astbury, who claimed the NCAA 500 free title two years before he went on to anchor Great Britain to a bronze medal in the 800 free relay at the '84 Olympics. In 1983, Mike Orn added a second NCAA title to ASU's mantle, this time in the 200 free. That season (7th), and three of the next four, ASU placed among the nation's top-10.

After 18 years at the helm of ASU men's swimming, Johnson stepped aside and was replaced by Dr. Ernie Maglischo before the 1993-94 season. Among the highlights of the Maglischo era was a second-place finish at the 1995 Pac-10 Championships -- the highest ever by ASU -- and a ninth-place NCAA finish in 1996.

The hero of the '96 season was Venezuelan great Francisco Sanchez, who captured ASU's first national title in 13 years with a victory in the 50 free at the NCAA Championships. The same year, Sanchez won three conference titles and joined Orn as the only Sun Devils to win Pac-10 Swimmer of the Year honors.

In 1998-99, the current era of Sun Devil swimming and diving began when Michael Chasson became the fourth head coach in the history of ASU men's swimming.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING & DIVING

Twenty-four years before the current home of Arizona State swimming and diving was constructed and named in her honor, Mona Plummer arrived on the ASU campus in 1957.

Over the next 22 years, Plummer built one of the premier women's swimming programs in the nation, attracting some of the world's best athletes and winning eight AIAW (Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women) team titles from 1967-1978.

Under the tutelage of Plummer, 45 ASU women earned sole or shared possession of AIAW event titles, including relays. Perhaps the first queen of ASU swimming was Kendis Moore (Drake), who in 1968 -- the same year she finished fourth in the 100m backstroke at the Olympic Games -- became the first collegiate swimmer to win three national event titles, placing first in the 50 back, 100 back and 100 fly.

Another U.S. Olympian to help ASU in its early years was Jan Henne (Hawkins). Henne, who at the '68 Olympics captured gold in the 100m free and 400m free relay, plus silver in the 200m free and bronze in the 200m IM, was a three-event national champion for ASU in its 1970 AIAW title campaign -- 100 breast, 200 free, 400 free relay.

In 1976, Melissa Belote, the world record holder in the 200m back from 1972-74 and the American record holder from 1972-77, called upon the skill that saw her win three gold medals at the '72 Olympics and won three national collegiate event titles. ASU managed only a fifth-place AIAW finish in '76, but would rebound in 1977 and 1978 with its seventh and eighth national championships.

Not to be forgotten in this period are the efforts of ASU divers under coach Dick Smith, including 1968 Olympic platform bronze medalist Ann Peterson (Scheer) -- who actually earned '68 AIAW titles in both the 3-meter springboard and the now extinct 100 medley relay -- and Mary "Patsy" Willard (Heckel), who captured bronze in the springboard at the 1964 Olympics.

Following the 1978-79 season, Plummer stepped down. Diving coach Ward O'Connell, who had been on staff for both the men and women since the 1974-75 season, remained and was joined by Plummer's replacement Bill Rose.

The Rose era, which included ASU's only WCAA (Western Collegiate Athletic Association) title in 1979, was highlighted by Canadian Olympians Gail Amundrud and Cheryl Gibson, who had began their collegiate careers under Plummer. Amundrud earned eight national titles in her four year ASU career, while Gibson – a silver medalist in the 400 IM at the '76 Olympics -- tallied six collegiate crowns.

The 1981-82 season, marked not only the first season for the ASU women in the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association), but also the first season under head coach Bob Gillett. The Sun Devils finished seventh in the nation that season – Gibson's last – but against challenging NCAA competition they dropped to 21st by 1985.

Thus entered Tim Hill, who grabbed the reins and led the Sun Devils to four consecutive national top-10 finishes. In 1994, one of ASU's finest seasons in recent history, Hill and O'Connell were honored as Pac-10 Coaches of the Year as ASU finished second in the conference and 13th in the nation.

Leading the way that season was Polish swimmer Beata Kaszuba, who claimed ASU's first individual collegiate title since 1980 with a win in the 100 breast at NCAAs. The following season, Kaszuba repeated in the 100 breast and added a 200 breast title, both in NCAA record times.

In 1998-99, Michael Chasson became the fifth head coach in ASU women's swimming history.

THE CURRENT ERA

In 1998-99, Michael Chasson became the first coach in ASU history to officially head both the men's and women's swimming programs. One year after replacing Ward O'Connell, Mark Bradshaw remained to coach the Sun Devil divers. In both cases, their impact was immediate.

Mark Bradshaw is in his ninth year at the helm of the Arizona State diving program. Over the last three seasons, Bradshaw has coached four-time NCAA champion Joona Puhakka and All-American Trisha Tumlinson. His impact on the program has been unmistakable, generating eight All-Americans, while rewriting the ASU record book in 11 of 14 diving disciplines.

In 2003, Bradshaw took two newcomers - one man and one woman - to the NCAA Championships. Freshman Joona Puhakka and sophomore Trisha Tumlinson combined to bring home three medals, including Puhakka winning the 1-meter springboard title at the NCAA meet. Bradshaw's outstanding leadership earned him the highest honor in program history when he was named the 2003 Men's NCAA Diving Coach of the Year. He was also named the Pac-10 Men's Diving Coach of the Year.

The year of 2005 brought Bradshaw even more success, as Puhakka and Tumlinson again raked in success both at the Pac-10 Championships and the NCAAs. Tumlinson brought home the Pac-10 title on the platform and was fourth at the NCAA meet. Puhakka claimed the Pac-10 titles in the 1-meter and 3-meter events as well as sweeping the 1-meter and 3-meter events at the NCAA Championships. He earned his third consecutive Pac-10 Diver of the Year award and was also named the NCAA Diver of the Year. Bradshaw's leadership in 2005 earned him Pac-10 and NCAA Diving Coach of the Year honors for the men.

Under Chasson, the men's swimming program also made a national resurgence. In 2000, ASU welcomed two-time 200 IM Olympic medalist Attila Czene to its roster and flourished, placing among the nation's top-10 for only the third time in nine years. In his only season as a Sun Devil, Czene was member to three school record setting relay teams and added two individual ASU records. Tying the world record in the short-course 200m IM (1:42.72 converted), Czene became only the sixth NCAA champion in ASU men's swimming and diving history.

2004 proved to be another successful season for the Sun Devil men, earning nine All-America honors and sending three current and former swimmers to the 2004 Summer Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. Among the Olympic participants was Chasson, coaching the Egyptian Swim Team. Three current and former Sun Devil women participated in the 2004 Summer Games, which includes three-time Olympian Agnes Kovacs, the 2000 Gold Medalist in the 200m breaststroke and school record-holder in the 200 breaststroke, 200 IM and the 400 IM.

The women's swimming program, which hadn't finished in the top-25 nationally in two years, also received a welcomed boost from Chasson with a 23rd-place finish at the end of his first season with the team (1999). The following two years netted back-to-back 21st-place finishes. With their 10th-place finish at the 2003 NCAA meet, the women secured their first back-to-back national top-10 finishes since the 1989-90 seasons. ASU placed 12th in last year's meet.

The 2004-05 season brought more success and accolades for the women's team, bringing home 16 All-America honors and a Pac-10 Champion, Caitlin Andrew, in the 100 butterfly. Andrew also set the school record in the 100 fly and 100 backstroke.

President/Athletic Director

Michael Crow
ASU President

Michael M. Crow became the 16th president of Arizona State University on July 1, 2002. He is guiding the transformation of ASU into one of the nation's leading public metropolitan research universities, one that is directly engaged in the economic, social, and cultural vitality of its region. Under his direction the university pursues teaching, research, and creative excellence focused on the major intellectual questions of our time, as well as those central to the building of a sustainable environment and economy for Arizona. He has committed the university to global engagement, and to setting a new standard for public service.

Since he took office, ASU has marked a number of important milestones, including the establishment of the Biodesign Institute at ASU; the initiation of many new interdisciplinary research initiatives; the groundbreaking and planning of more than 1 million square feet of new state-of-the-art research facilities; and the announcement of two $50 million gifts, endowing the W. P. Carey School of Business, and the Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering, and a $10 million gift to establish the Virginia G. Piper Center for Creative Writing.

Prior to joining ASU, he was executive vice provost of Columbia University, where he also was professor of science and technology policy in the School of International and Public Affairs. Dr. Crow oversaw Columbia's research enterprise, technology and innovation transfer operations, strategic initiative program, and interdisciplinary program development.

He played the lead role in the creation of the Columbia Earth Institute (CEI), and helped found the Center for Science, Policy and Outcomes (CSPO) in Washington, D.C., a think tank dedicated to linking science and technology to desired social, economic, and environmental outcomes.

He is the author of books and articles relating to the analysis of research organizations, technology transfer, science and technology policy, and the practice and theory of public policy.

Lisa Love
Vice President -
University Athletics

On Saturday, April 23, 2005, Arizona State University President Michael Crow selected Lisa Love of the University of Southern California to serve as the new Vice President for University Athletics. She began in that capacity July 1, 2005.

In June, prior to her ASU arrival, Love had planned to climb 14,162-foot Mount Shasta in northern California, adding yet another accomplishment to an already impressive personal resume. But the opportunity to assume the athletic director's chair at ASU postponed those plans, perhaps to another year. A trailblazer her entire career, Love is now poised for the most challenging and fulfilling climb of her professional life.

Love became ASU's 21st athletic director (17th full-time) after taking over for Christine Wilkinson, who is a senior vice president for the university and had been serving as interim athletic director since April 8. Former athletic director Gene Smith left the university April 8 for a similar post at The Ohio State University.

Love moved part-time into administration in 1991, then full-time after the 1998 season. She became a Senior Associate Athletic Director in 2002.

At USC she handled the day-to-day supervision of eight sports - including women's basketball, volleyball, tennis and men's and women's swimming and diving - and monitored all women's sports at the university. She was active in the department's strategic planning, gender equity, civil rights and NCAA certification issues and she served on the NCAA Management Council. She also served two stints (1992 - 1993 and 2001 - 2002) as vice president of the Pacific-10 Conference.

As a coach, Love was a master teacher at the pinnacle of her profession. She compiled an impressive 404-171 as a college head coach for 17 seasons at Texas Arlington (199-78 from 1982-88) and USC (205-93 from 1989-98). At USC, she led the Trojans to nine NCAA tournament berths and eight finishes in the national Top 15. She was selected as the Pac-10 Co-Coach of the Year in 1997.

She was national Coach of the Year in 1988 when Arlington went 30-4 and fell one win shy of the Final Four.

A tremendous athlete as volleyball player in her own right, Love is also a member of the Texas Tech University and Texas Arlington athletic Halls of Fame. As a student-athlete, Love was a four-year volleyball starter and an all-region performer at Texas Tech. She earned a bachelor's degree (1978) in physical education from Texas Tech and a master's degree (1985) in education administration from the University of North Texas.

Love also compiled a 79-40 record as head coach at Bowie High School (1978-82) in Arlington, Texas.

Love also mentored some of the finest volleyball coaching talent in the nation. Among her proteges are head volleyball coaches at Texas (Jerritt Elliott), South Carolina (Nancy Somera), New Mexico (Kelley KcKee), Indiana (Katie Weismiller) and Idaho (Debbie Buchanan).

ASU President Michael Crow said Love brings qualities and experience that will carry ASU's Athletic Department to championships and excellence.

Love said her experience and President Crow's vision for the university will serve as her foundation as she steps into her new role at ASU.

Love plans to establish model programs at ASU by embracing the traditions of ASU and aggressively pursuing championships.

Community members and university representatives applauded the selection of Love as ASU's new Vice President of University Athletics.

At ASU, Love serves as the senior administrative officer of the university's athletic program and reports directly to Crow. The program features 12 women's and 10 men's sports, including men's and women's basketball, golf, swimming and diving, tennis, track/field and cross country; women's gymnastics, soccer, softball, volleyball, and water polo; baseball, football and wrestling.

Love is responsible for the management and development on one of the finest and most comprehensive athletic physical plants in the nation at ASU, playing host to nearly 1 million patrons each year. ASU's athletic staff includes more than 180 full and part-time coaches and administrative and support personnel who provide services to about 500 student-athletes.

Love has two sisters, Shannon Goddard and Debbi Dalton. Her parents are Tom and Jeanne Love of Arlington, Texas.

Sun Angel Foundation

The Sun Angel Foundation is a support group that has served Arizona State University since 1947. It was officially incorporated as a non-profit agency for the purpose of promoting Sun Devil athletic programs and recently came under the direction of Arizona State's intercollegiate athletics department.

The Foundation seeks to join the energy and resources of business leaders, ASU alumni and members of the Valley community with the goals and objectives of Arizona State University to benefit the community at large. Over the past 53 years, Sun Angels have contributed over $65 million in private funding to ASU Athletics.

Annual contributions from Sun Angel members are the lifeblood of ASU Athletics. Contributions from more than 7,000 members support all of the university's 22 varsity teams and over 500 student-athletes.

The umbrella of the Sun Angel Foundation is large and includes specific clubs that strive to meet the needs of specific programs. The Wings of Gold (women's & Olympic sports), On Deck Circle (baseball) and Slam Dunk Club (basketball) are part of the Sun Angel Foundation and donations to the Sun Angel Foundation can be earmarked for specific programs and purposes.

The support Sun Devil athletics has received from its fans and community in the past is greatly appreciated. The Sun Angel Foundation stands ready to meet its half-century long goal of promoting excellence in both academic and athletic programs while becoming the best collegiate support group in the country. To join the team, call the Sun Angels today at 480-727-7700.
