TEAM HISTORY

TRADITION

Arizona State THIS IS ASU!

GRADUATES

The number of students graduating from ASU – 12,821 in the 2004–05 academic year – has grown by more than 1,000 over the last two years.

MAIN CAMPUS

The Arizona State main campus is located on 722 acres in the heart of downtown Tempe and just minutes away from the busy nightlife of Mill Avenue. With its shady malls, cool fountains, and lush plantings, Arizona State's campus has long been known as an "oasis in the desert."

DEGREE COURSES

ASU's Main Campus offers more than 100 majors through eight colleges, 104 bachelor's degree programs, 94 master's degrees, a highly regarded law degree and nearly 50 doctoral degrees.

P.F. CHANG'S MARATHON

Arizona State University has joined with the City of Tempe to form the finish line for P.F. Chang's Rock 'n' Roll Arizona Marathon & 1/2 Marathon through the first two years of the race. The inaugural event put on by Elite Racing in 2004 featured 29,434 participants. The 2004 event broke the world record for the largest, first-time, annual running event. 50 bands lined the course and played live music at every mile along the course.

SUN DEVILS GIVING BACK

Since 1999, Sun Devil Phil Mickelson has donated $230,000 from his Ryder Cup awards to support the "Golf: For Business and Life" course taught the Professional Golf Management program in the Morrison School of Management and Agribusiness. Mickelson has earned $39,514,038 on the PGA Tour as of October of 2006.

AVP PRO BEACH VOLLEYBALL

The AVP Pro Beach Volleyball tour hosts the Tempe Open every April at Tempe Beach Park.

HORIZON NEWSROOM

Michael Grant, host of HORIZON, Eight's award-winning news program, prepares for an interview with Governor Janet Napolitano. ASU students work in the HORIZON newsroom and edit suites and on the Eight production crew.

- ASU ranks third nationally among public schools – and seventh overall – for the number of National Merit Scholars enrolled with more than 600 in 2006-07.

- ASU ranks in the top 20 for National Merit Scholars.

- The overall proportion of minority faculty at ASU reached a record 22 percent in 2005, the highest in the university's history.

- ASU has been named a Truman Honor Institution for having 13 Truman Scholarship winners since 1991.

- In the past 12 years, 29 ASU students earned Goldwater Scholarships, the premier undergraduate award for science, math and engineering scholars.

- In 2005, 14 ASU students won Fulbright awards to study abroad, one of the best records for any public university. math in the last year.

- Since 1992, only Harvard and Yale have had more students selected for USA Today's ranking of the nation's top 20 undergraduates.

- Since 1994, three ASU students have won Rhodes Scholarships, and 10 have been awarded Marshall Scholarships.

NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLARS

ASU ranks fourth among public universities in the U.S. in the number of freshman National Merit Scholars. There are currently 532 National Merit Scholars currently studying at ASU.

BARRETT HONORS COLLEGE

The Barrett Honors College is recognized as one of the nation's best. Its 2005-2006 freshmen class had an average SAT score of 1,318 and included 155 National Merit Scholars. Almost 100 percent of students in the college who apply to medical and law school are accepted. The college was also named one of the nation's top honors colleges in Reader's Digest's 100 Best Issue.

AL MICHAELS

Longtime lead announcer for ABC's Monday Night Football and the current play-by-play voice of NBC's Sunday Night Football, Al Michaels is one of several prominent alumni to have attended Arizona State.

Life in THE VALLEY

2008 AND 2009 NCAA HOST

ASU will host a 2008 NCAA Sweet Sixteen in March of 2008 at U.S. Airways Center (home of Phoenix Suns) and a 2009 NCAA Sweet Sixteen at Cardinal Stadium in Glendale, Ariz.

PHOENIX CIVIC PLAZA

The Phoenix Civic Plaza convention center is undergoing a $600 million expansion to triple its size as it hosts major conventions and trade shows. It will be 900,000 square feet upon completion of the expansion.

5TH LARGEST CITY

Phoenix is the fifth-largest city (with more than 1.5 million residents) in the United States and is within 500 miles of Los Angeles, San Diego, Las Vegas, Denver, Albuquerque and Hermosillo, Mexico.

US AIRWAYS CENTER

US Airways Center hosted the 2004 NCAA West Regional and will host it again in 2008.

MAJOR LABOR FORCE

Metropolitan Phoenix benefits from a labor force of 1.9 million people, larger than Denver and twice as large as Austin or Las Vegas.

EMPLOYMENT

According to the Greater Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, Phoenix's 5.3 percent employment growth in 2006 was the largest in the nation. The U.S. average was 1.4 percent.

FUN IN THE SUN

The Phoenix area boasts more than 300 sun-filled days per year and an average temperature of 72 degrees.

DREAM HOMES

The median cost of housing is $255,000 and many of those homes are near the 200 golf courses in the area, while biking, hiking, boating and skiing are all available in a short drive. In fact, it is possible to snow ski and water ski in Arizona on the same day.

POPULATION

More than 50 percent of the population is between 18 and 54 years of age. The population of Phoenix is nearly five years younger than the national median age of 36.2.

SKY HARBOR

Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport is the sixth-busiest airport in the world with an average of more than 1,300 daily commercial flights.

THE SPORTS SCENE

Phoenix is a sports fans dream, as the Phoenix Suns (NBA), Arizona Diamondbacks (MLB), Arizona Rattlers (Arena Football League), Phoenix Mercury (WNBA) and Arizona Cardinals (NFL) all compete in the Valley of the Sun.

2008 SUPER BOWL

The University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale, Ariz., will host the Fiesta Bowl, the BCS first national title game on Jan. 8, 2007, and the Super Bowl in February of 2008.

Michael Crow
ASU President

Michael Crow became the 16th president of Arizona State University on July 1, 2002. He is guiding the transformation of ASU into one of the nation's leading public metropolitan research universities, one that is directly engaged in the economic, social and cultural vitality of its region. Under his direction, the university pursues teaching, research and creative excellence focused on the major challenges and questions of our time, as well as those central to the building of a sustainable environment and economy for Arizona. He has committed the university to global engagement and to setting a new standard for public service.

Since he took office, ASU has marked a number of important milestones, including the establishment of major interdisciplinary research initiatives such as the Bidesign Institute; the Global Institute for Sustainability; and MacroTechnology Works, a program integrating science and technology for large-scale applications that includes the Flexible Display Center, a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Army. Under his direction, ASU has initiated a dramatic research infrastructure expansion to create more than one-million square feet of new research space and has announced naming gifts endowing the Mary Lou Fulton College of Education, the W. P. Carey School of Business, the Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering and the Virginia G. Piper Center for Creative Writing.

Prior to joining ASU, Michael was executive vice provost of Columbia University, where he also was professor of science and technology policy in the School of International and Public Affairs. Michael oversaw Columbia's research enterprise, technology and innovation transfer operations, strategic initiative program and interdisciplinary program development. He played the lead role in the creation of the Columbia Earth Institute and helped found the Center for Science, Policy and Outcomes (CSPO) in Washington, D.C., a think tank dedicated to linking science and technology to desired social, economic and environmental outcomes. In 2003, CSPO was re-established at ASU as the Consortium for Science, Policy and Outcomes.

Lisa Love
Vice President -
University Athletics

On Saturday, April 23, 2005, Arizona State University President Michael Crow selected Lisa Love of the University of Southern California to serve as the new Vice President for University Athletics. She began in that capacity July 1, 2005.

In June, prior to her ASU arrival, Love had planned to climb 14,162-foot Mount Shasta in northern California, adding yet another accomplishment to an already impressive personal resume. But the opportunity to assume the athletic director's chair at ASU postponed those plans, perhaps to another year. A trailblazer her entire career, Love is now poised for the most challenging and fulfilling climb of her professional life.

Love became ASU's 21st athletic director (17th full-time) after taking over for Christine Wilkinson, who is a senior vice president for the university and had been serving as interim athletic director since April 8. Former athletic director Gene Smith left the university April 8 for a similar post at The Ohio State University.

Love moved part-time into administration in 1991, then full-time after the 1998 season. She became a Senior Associate Athletic Director in 2002.

At USC she handled the day-to-day supervision of eight sports - including women's basketball, volleyball, tennis and men's and women's swimming and diving - and monitored all women's sports at the university. She was active in the department's strategic planning, gender equity, civil rights and NCAA certification issues and she served on the NCAA Management Council. She also served two stints (1992 - 1993 and 2001 - 2002) as vice president of the Pacific-10 Conference.

As a coach, Love was a master teacher at the pinnacle of her profession. She compiled an impressive 404-171 as a college head coach for 17 seasons at Texas Arlington (199-78 from 1982-88) and USC (205-93 from 1989-98). At USC, she led the Trojans to nine NCAA tournament berths and eight finishes in the national Top 15. She was selected as the Pac-10 Co-Coach of the Year in 1997.

She was national Coach of the Year in 1988 when Arlington went 30-4 and fell one win shy of the Final Four.

A tremendous athlete as volleyball player in her own right, Love is also a member of the Texas Tech University and Texas Arlington athletic Halls of Fame. As a student-athlete, Love was a four-year volleyball starter and an all-region performer at Texas Tech. She earned a bachelor's degree (1978) in physical education from Texas Tech and a master's degree (1985) in education administration from the University of North Texas.

Love also compiled a 79-40 record as head coach at Bowie High School (1978-82) in Arlington, Texas.

Love also mentored some of the finest volleyball coaching talent in the nation. Among her proteges are head volleyball coaches at Texas (Jerritt Elliott), South Carolina (Nancy Somera), New Mexico (Kelley KcKee), Indiana (Katie Weismiller) and Idaho (Debbie Buchanan).

ASU President Michael Crow said Love brings qualities and experience that will carry ASU's Athletic Department to championships and excellence.

Love said her experience and President Crow's vision for the university will serve as her foundation as she steps into her new role at ASU.

Love plans to establish model programs at ASU by embracing the traditions of ASU and aggressively pursuing championships.

Community members and university representatives applauded the selection of Love as ASU's new Vice President of University Athletics.

At ASU, Love serves as the senior administrative officer of the university's athletic program and reports directly to Crow. The program features 12 women's and 10 men's sports, including men's and women's basketball, golf, swimming and diving, tennis, track/field and cross country; women's gymnastics, soccer, softball, volleyball, and water polo; baseball, football and wrestling.

Love is responsible for the management and development on one of the finest and most comprehensive athletic physical plants in the nation at ASU, playing host to nearly 1 million patrons each year. ASU's athletic staff includes more than 180 full and part-time coaches and administrative and support personnel who provide services to about 500 student-athletes.

Love has two sisters, Shannon Goddard and Debbi Dalton. Her parents are Tom and Jeanne Love of Arlington, Texas.

Under the supervision of Associate Athletic Director for Communications Mark Brand; Media Relations Director Doug Tammaro; Assistant Sports Information Directors Kerry Howe, Randy Policar, Steve Rodriguez and Alex Ryan; graduate assistant Joe Healey; and a staff of undergraduate student interns, the Sun Devil media relations office strives to serve as intermediary between Sun Devil athletics and the media and general public in the most cooperative and professional manner possible.

Credentials

Members of the media that would like to cover the Sun Devil track and field home meets should contact Alex Ryan to request credentials (contact information is below).

Photographers

Access to the track's infield during meets will be permitted during specific times of the meet. Photographers will check with Alex Ryan on the day of the meet for restrictions.

Mid-Week Interviews

The team practices by event group throughout the week with times of each practice varying. Media members should contact Alex Ryan at least one day in advance to set up a time for interviews.

Post-Meet Interviews

Upon completion of the meet, all members of the Sun Devil program, as well as the coaching staff, will be made available to the media for interviews. Due to the late end times for home meets, interviews may be scheduled during the meet. Those members of the media wishing to interview an athlete before the end of the meet will contact Alex Ryan at the results trailer at the end of the track.

Head Coach Greg Kraft spoke with members of the Oregon media following the Sun Devil women's team winning the 2006 Pac-10 Track & Field Championships in Eugene, Ore.

Home Meet Information

During the season, the Sun Devil program plays host to several home meets, ranging from three to five meets (depending upon the year). The 2007 home season includes:

- The Baldy Castillo Invitational (March 16-17)
- The Arizona State University Invitational (March 23-24)
- The 28th Sun Angel Track Classic presented by Coca-Cola (April 12-14)
- The Double Dual with Arizona and Northern Arizona (April 28)

For the second year in a row, a larger high school section will be part of the Sun Angel meet with preliminaries and a few finals being held on April 12-13 with the finals of the remaining events being conducted the same day as the collegiate races (April 14). Individual, unattached athletes also have the opportunity to compete in the first three meets of the season, as long as they meet qualifying standards, while the Double Dual is only for the three collegiate teams. The qualifying standards used are the same as the NCAA Division I Regional meet qualifications (see page 64).

Meet Event Schedules and Registration

For detailed event schedules for each meet, including possible start times and order of events, visit the track & field page on thesundevils.com and select the Home Meet Information link on the right side of the page. Prior to each meet, heat sheets will be posted there as well as complete results at the conclusion of the event. The same page also will contain detailed meet information as well as links to the Direct Athletics web site where on line registrations are accepted.

Sun Angel Stadium is the host to several home meets each year, including the annual Sun Angel Track Classic.

ASU COACHING STAFF

Greg Kraft Director of Track & Field (Eleventh Season)

Entering the 2007 season, Greg Kraft's Arizona State University track and field program will look to continue to excel as it has under his direction. In his time with the Sun Devils, the 11th-year head coach has brought the programs up in prominence by adding solid depth and creating an all-around product that will continue to shine for years to come.

In recent years, Kraft's teams, especially on the women's scene, have developed into national powers. The Sun Devil women captured the 2006 Pac-10 Championship while also becoming just the second program in the history of the NCAA to earn a trophy at each of the three NCAA events in the same academic year (fourth in 2005 cross country, third indoors and tied for fourth outdoors). For his efforts, Kraft was selected as the 2006 USTFCCA Women's West District Coach of the Year and the 2006 Pac-10 Conference Women's Coach of the Year, his second conference coaching honor (1996 SEC Coach of the Year).

Individually in 2006, Kraft saw Jacquelyn Johnson sweep the national titles in the multi-events, winning the indoor pentathlon and the outdoor heptathlon. Indoors, Amy Hastings won the 5,000m national crown before teammate Victoria Jackson secured the outdoor 10,000m title. All told, 15 All-America accolades were attained during the year.

The men also have enjoyed success during Kraft's time in Tempe, including Aaron Aguayo, ASU's distance standout. Aguayo, who finished ninth in the nation at the 2006 NCAA Cross Country Championships, will look for his fourth Pac-10 steeplechase title this year. Kraft also has helped with the efforts put forth by Joshua Kinnaman, a two-time All-American in the multi-events during the 2006 season.

Kraft's influence on the success of the program also was honored as two of his assistants earned recognition in 2006. David Dumble (women's throws) and Louis Quintana (women's distances) were both selected as the USTFCCA West District Assistant Coach of the Year before being tabbed as the USTFCCA National Assistant Coach of the Year for their respective areas.

During his tenure, Kraft's student-athletes have combined to collect 75 individual All-America honors, 14 relay All-America honors and five NCAA Championships. Regionally, seven individual and eight relay crowns have been earned with the Pac-10 Championships having seen 39 individual events and eight relays captured by Sun Devil athletes.

Academically, the program has been equally impressive with Sun Devil athletes combining to earn 116 selections to the Pac-10 Academic First and Second teams in cross country and track & field. At the end of the 2006 season, Jackson was selected as the USTFCCA Women's Outdoor Student-Athlete of the Year while 13 Sun Devils earned national academic recognition from the USTFCCA as well.

The 2005 calendar year was another banner campaign for the Sun Devils as three women and eight men attained individual All-America honors while one men's relay also earned the national accolade. The women's cross country team finished fourth to earn the first trophy finish in the history of the program while Hastings became the first harrier to earn All-America honors three times in a career.

The 2004 season saw many great accomplishments, but none more impressive than the victories recorded by one current and one former student-athlete. In June, Kraft coached true freshman Johnson to the NCAA Heptathlon title, the first national title won by a track and field athlete since 1996. Two months later, former Sun Devil standout Dwight Phillips traveled to Athens, Greece, where he claimed Olympic gold for the United States.

Several of the more successful student-athletes in the history of the program have accumulated numerous All-America honors under Kraft. Those athletes, which were recruited by Kraft and his staff, include the likes of Marcus Brunson (seven), Tony Berrian (six) and Phillips (five) for the men and women's athletes Tiffany Greer (eight), Lisa Aguilera (six) and Kelly MacDonald (four). Recent graduate Seth Amoo capped his career with eight honors while current runner Hastings has totaled seven in her career.

Kraft's athletes have fared well internationally as well. Prior to Phillips claiming gold in the 2004 Games, he won the 2003 indoor and outdoor World Championships and also finished eighth at the 2000 Olympics in Sydney. In the summer of 2006, Sarah Stevens and current redshirt freshman Ryan Whiting represented the United States at the Pan-Am Games with both winning the shot put competition while Whiting, the 2005 Gatorade National High School Track & Field Athlete of the Year, also won the discus.

Since his first Pac-10 Championship meet at the helm of the Sun Devil program in 1996, numerous titles have been brought back to Tempe while both teams have been very competitive in the overall standings. The women have finished in the Top 4 in each of the past five seasons while their male counterparts have done so in five of the last seven seasons. In that same stretch, the men scored 100 points or more five times. The men's relays have enjoyed remarkable success during the Kraft years as the 4x400m relay title resided in Tempe for five years in a row (2001-05) while the 4x100m relay attained gold in 2005 as well.

Student-athletes have become multiple champions under Kraft, including the conference's first three-time long jump champion in Greer, two-time steeplechase winner Lisa Aguilera, two-time 5,000m run champion MacDonald and two-time high jump champion Fiona Daly while Johnson won both the high jump and heptathlon in 2004 before adding the 2006 heptathlon crown. For the men, Marcus Brunson won the 100m and 200m in the same year while Phillips took home two long jump crowns and Aguayo is the three-time defending 3,000m steeplechase champion.

After spending his first two years at ASU rebuilding the program one event at a time, constructing a foundation that focused on recruiting the high school ranks, the recent seasons have shown Kraft's continued breakthroughs. In that span of time, the men's team scored over 100 points five times and the first time since 1981 while the women broke the century mark for just the third time ever, amassing a school-record 154 points on its way to winning the Pac-10.

Since the 1999 indoor and outdoor seasons, the men and women have combined to make numerous additions to the Sun Devil record book. Both teams have combined to record 53 school records, including 12 during the 2006 season. In 2005, two of those outdoor marks bettered much older marks, including the 4x100m relay of Steven Koehneman, Domenik

Peterson, Seth Amoo and Kelvin Love Jr., broke the 1979 mark of 38.79 with their run of 38.71 and Jessica Pressley's shot put mark beating out Leslie Deniz' throw from 1983. The shot put mark is now owned by Sarah Stevens.

The 2004 season was filled with All-American performances, with 11 Sun Devils combining for 11 national accolades. On the women's side, Johnson led the charge as she collected honors for her national title in the outdoor heptathlon and runner-up finish in the indoor pentathlon. Banda, Barton and Peterson each collected four honors each.

The men finished third in the Pac-10 Championships (120 points) while the women captured fourth (97) to again finish among the top tier of the conference standings. The men's 4x400m relay was victorious for the fourth year in a row while Banda (400m), Johnson (high jump/heptathlon), Aguayo and Hastings (3,000m steeplechase) all recorded individual crowns at the meet.

At the NCAA Outdoor Championship meet, the women finished tied for 20th with 12 points while the men scored 22 points and a tie for 10th place to record the best finish under Kraft. The cross country team posted two solid performances at nationals with the men setting a school record for finish (8th) and low points (315) while the women advanced to the national meet for the seventh year in a row after having never making the national field in the history of the program.

In 2003, the men, following three years of 100-points or more at the Pac-10 Championships, slipped below the mark while the women registered a school-record 109 points. Cassandra Reed (400m), Banda (400m), the men's 4x400m relay, Aguilera (3,000m steeplechase), Greer (long jump) and Sandra Orsund (discus) each won titles.

In 2002, the track team again shined. The women saw Greer and Aguilera garner All-America honors in both indoor and outdoor after winning the Pac-10 Championship in the long jump and 3,000m steeplechase, respectively. For the men, the 4x400m relay team of Lorenzo Parham, Steve Fitch, Pete Lopez and Seth Amoo won the Pac-10 Championship and also were All-Americans in the outdoor event. Indoors, David Wood (shot put) and Trevell Quinley (long jump) were All-Americans.

Also in 2002, the harrier women, led by a strong group of first or second year athletes, advanced to the NCAA Championships where they placed tied for 23rd. Jessica Scalzo earned Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year honors while helping guide the team to the NCAA Championships. For the men, Fasil Bizuneh and J.J. Duke advanced to the national meet as individuals to give the men a presence at the championships.

The 2001 season saw the ASU men record their highest national finish (tied for 15th) since the 1981 squad placed fourth. The men also racked up 109.5 points at the Pac-10 Championships, their second-highest point total since the same '81 squad took home the conference crown with 133. Under Kraft's guidance and 103 points earned by the men's team last year, ASU has had three years in a row with a 100-point finish at the Pac-10 Championships. Prior to his arrival, the team had only once broken the 100-point plateau.

On the women's side, ASU earned its best national finish (tied for 14th) since 1994 when the squad took 10th. In 2001, both men's and women's cross country teams made appearances at the NCAA Championships, with the men setting a school record with a second-place team finish at the Pac-10 Championships, which ASU hosted.

Kelly MacDonald was the driving force behind the women's success in 2001. MacDonald earned All-America honors and won Pac-10 titles in two events, the 3000m steeplechase and the 5000m. Tiffany Greer also assisted the women's cause, placing third at the NCAA Championships in the long jump and earning her fourth straight (indoor and outdoor) All-America honors in the event.

Upon graduating from the program, Brunson won gold in the 100m at the World University Games, while MacDonald captured third place in the 3000m steeplechase at the USA Championships.

During the 2000 indoor season, the ASU men tied for 10th and the women placed 23rd at the NCAA Championships. The women broke five school records, more than any other year since 1991 when they broke four, while the men snapped three ASU standards. On the outdoor track, the men tied for 17th at the NCAA Championships, while the women tied for 38th.

At the 2000 Pac-10 Championships, the men's squad took home the highest finish since 1983, a third-place standing, while the women placed fifth, the first top-five finish since 1995. In 40 years of competition, Dwight Phillips became only the seventh man to repeat as the Pac-10 long-jump champion. Also taking home conference titles were Jeremy Rasmussen (3,000m steeplechase), the men's 4x100m relay team, Kelly MacDonald (5,000m), and Greer (long jump).

During the 1999 indoor season, ASU's men finished 11th and the women tied for 32nd at the NCAA Championships. Marcus Brunson (60 meters) and Dwight Phillips (long jump) were NCAA runners-up after Brunson had broken the collegiate record in the 60 meters earlier in the year. Six indoor school records were broken. The outdoor season saw three school records eclipsed as the men finished fifth in the Pac-10 — just 0.5 points out of fourth place — and 18th at the NCAA Championships. Phillips captured both the long jump and triple jump Pac-10 titles and Fiona Daly recorded her second straight women's high jump conference crown.

Kraft was introduced as ASU's head coach July 28, 1996, after spending seven years guiding the track and field and cross country programs at the University of South Carolina where he was the 1996 SEC Coach of the Year. During Kraft's tenure at South Carolina, he rebuilt the men's program into a league power and constructed the women's program from scratch. Kraft also headed up the men's program transition from the Metro Conference to the Southeastern Conference.

The result of Kraft's work was both quick and remarkable. The Gamecock men's squad took just three years to climb from 22 points and a 10th-place finish to 74 points and a fourth-place finish at the 12-team conference meet. The three teams ahead of South Carolina were recent NCAA champions Arkansas, Tennessee and LSU. South Carolina had consecutive NCAA top 20 finishes.

On the women's side, the South Carolina climb was as impressive as it was quick. In four years, the Gamecock women went from a basic walk-on program that finished 10th in the SEC (13 points) to a second-place finish (103 points) behind eventual national champion LSU. The USC women then went on to score 26 points at the NCAA Outdoor Championships to tie UCLA for ninth place. And the Gamecocks were to return 102 of their 103 conference points, plus all 26 of their NCAA points. What made the building of the women's program even more astounding was South Carolina had yet to be funded to the NCAA scholarship limits.

"We are extremely excited to welcome Greg to the ASU family," then-ASU Athletic Director Dr. Kevin White said at the time he introduced Kraft. "He built South Carolina into one of the nation's top track & field programs virtually from scratch. He is also nationally regarded as a coach of remarkable class and integrity, which is precisely what we were looking for at Arizona State."

Kraft, who is now entering his 27th year of Division I coaching and 18th as a head coach, has long been associated with successful track and field and cross country programs. As an assistant, Kraft tutored 26 All-Americans and 36 individual conference champions while helping guide his schools to four conference titles and three NCAA Top 10 finishes.

He started his coaching career in 1979 as a graduate assistant coach at his alma mater, Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo. During Kraft's one-year stint at Cal Poly, the Mustangs won the NCAA Division II championship in both track and field and cross country. Kraft's next stop was a one-year stint as the field events coach at Indiana State University.

In 1981, he moved on to a highly successful stint as an assistant at Kansas State University. During his four years at KSU, Kraft tutored 14 Big Eight champions and 16 NCAA All-Americans. One of the Wildcat pupils was 1996 Olympic triple jump champion Kenny Harrison. During his stint in Manhattan, KSU won a Big Eight championship in cross country and posted two top-10 NCAA finishes in track, as well as four other top-20 finishes.

Kraft then headed to the University of Virginia in 1985, where his initial responsibilities included all field events. His duties were later expanded to include the sprints and hurdles. During his four-year stint in Charlottesville, his student-athletes won 20 individual Atlantic Coast Conference titles and earned seven All-America honors while capturing three ACC team championships.

After 10 years as an assistant coach, Kraft was ready for a head coaching job and he was named South Carolina's head coach in 1989. At South Carolina, Kraft's cross country teams were twice named Academic All-America squads. Overall, 38 student-athletes were honored as Academic All-SEC selections and 11 student-athletes would earn All-America honors. Gamecock student-athletes won individual titles in the Metro Conference, SEC, NCAA Indoors, NCAA Outdoors, USA Indoors, USA Outdoors, the Olympic Festival, the Pan American Juniors and the 1996 USA Olympic Trials. He also mentored current ASU sprints coach Terry Winston, a two-time All-American and SEC runner-up in the hurdles for South Carolina.

Kraft is married to the former Maggie Keyes of Mill Valley, Calif. Maggie is a former collegiate record-setting miler who won AIAW, TAC and Millrose Games titles. She was also a member of the USA's first-ever World Championship team in 1983. The Krafts have two sons, Kyle, a second year engineering student in ASU's Barretts College, and Cory, a high school junior.

David Dumble

Assistant Track & Field Coach • 6th Season
Throwing Events

Entering his sixth season working with the men's and women's throwing events for the Arizona State University track and field program, David Dumble has brought his group toward the top of the national scene with several All-America performances and school records. In the five years he has overseen the throwers, the 2006 USTFCCA National and West District Women's Throws Coach of the Year has brought his student-athletes to the top of the conference and national scene. All of that success, combined with the top recruits Dumble has brought to Tempe, makes his group one of the more exciting components of the program.

Prior to Dumble's arrival, the women's throws had produced one indoor All-American and 13 outdoor All-Americans (including multi-event athletes). Last year alone, Dumble saw Sarah Stevens, the Pac-10 Shot Put Champion, earn national acclaim in the shot put (indoor and outdoor), helped Jacquelyn Johnson win national titles in the indoor pentathlon and outdoor heptathlon and coached Jessica Pressley to a two-All-America performance outdoors (shot put & discus) after earning All-America honors indoors in the weight toss. Stevens' shot put honors were just the second and third times, respectively, that an ASU woman had earned All-America honors in the shot put in program history.

Dumble also worked with Joshua Kinnaman in the men's multi-events, helping the sophomore attain All-America honors both indoor and outdoor. With his help, Kinnaman recorded personal best marks in the indoor shot put and the outdoor discus in 2006.

During the indoor season, Dumble witnessed Stevens set the school record and the third-best mark in the history of the Pac-10 Conference when she placed third at the NCAA Championships with a toss of 17.91m (58-9.25). Earlier in the year, Pressley set the school standard in the weight toss at 21.39m (70-2.25). Stevens also took over the records in the outdoor shot put (17.46m/57-3.50) and the hammer (65.69m/215-6).

All told, Dumble has worked with five different Sun Devils that have collected 13 All-America awards. In the record books, Dumble's athletes have done their fair share of rewrites of the years as his women hold four of the Top 5 marks in the indoor shot put and indoor weight toss while the men occupy two of the Top 5 in each event. Outdoors, the women have five of the Top 10 shot put and discus marks, seven of the hammer marks and three of the top javelin marks. On the men's side, Dumble's throwers have recorded six marks on the outdoor Top 10 lists.

The continued addition of top recruits, including Ryan Whiting, will help the rise of the program. Whiting and Stevens combined to secure a total of five gold medals in junior (19-and-under) competitions with three of the medals earned in international competition. Stevens, who redshirted in 2005, won the shot put competition at the USATF Outdoor Junior Championships before taking gold at the Pan-American Games in the same event. Whiting, the 2005 Gatorade National Track and Field High School Athlete of the Year that redshirted in 2006, also won the shot put at both events while also adding gold in the discus at the Pan-Am meet with a meet record of 61.40m.

Dumble has not limited his instruction to current collegiate student-athletes as he currently is working with John Godina, a three-time Olympian. With Dumble's coaching, Godina, a four-time World Champion and two-time Olympic Medalist, won the 2005 USA Indoor Championships, claiming his first crown since the 1998 season. His mark also was a personal best throw, his first in nearly six years. Godina also ended the 2005 outdoor season with the Top 2 shot put marks in the world.

Prior to coming to Tempe, Dumble headed the throwers at Virginia Tech, where he was an assistant track and field coach for one year. His appointment with the Sun Devils is his second collegiate coaching position.

Dumble attended UCLA where he competed under Bruin coach Art Venegas and twice earned All-America honors in the discus, with third and eighth-place finishes at the NCAA Championships in 1997 and 1996, respectively. Dumble also captained the 1997 Bruin squad and his UCLA best effort of 197-11 ranks 10th all-time in school history.

He received his bachelor's degree in environmental studies from UCLA in 1997. He attended Bakersfield College prior to his stint in Westwood, where he was a junior college state champion in the discus and competed in all four throwing events, including the hammer and javelin. Following his time with the Bruins, he competed for Reebok for three years and competed at the 2000 Olympic Trials and the USATF Championships on two occasions.

An inductee into the Bakersfield College Hall of Fame, Dumble earned his Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS) certificate from the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA) and recently earned his Master's of Education degree in Higher and Secondary Education from Arizona State.

Dion Miller

Assistant Track & Field Coach • 3rd Season
Women's Sprints/Hurdles/Relays

Dion Miller is entering his third season as an assistant coach with the Arizona State University track and field program and will once again work with the women's sprinters, relays and hurdlers.

Last year, the women turned in strong performances, including picking up valuable points at the conference meet to help the Sun Devils to their first Pac-10 Team Championship in the history of the program. Miller worked with Jacquelyn Johnson, who picked up two multi-event NCAA titles and All-America honors, as well as a young sprinting group that qualified for the NCAA Championships in the 4x400m relay while also sending three individuals to the national meet in the quarter-mile events.

Latosha Wallace advanced to the NCAA meet in the 400m hurdles after placing second in the Pac-10 and West Region. She was joined by 400m dashers Christina Hardeman and Bridgette Williams who, along with Shauntel Elcock, placed 11th in the relay event. Hardeman won the indoor 400m dash at the MPSF Championships before moving outdoors where she placed fourth in the conference before taking second in the West.

On the record lists, Miller helped Johnson clock an 8.34 in the 100m hurdles to move into third all-time indoors while Wallace ran the fifth-fastest indoor 400m time of 53.69. Outdoors, the duo again made a mark in the books with Johnson ranking fourth in the 100m hurdles (13.31) and Wallace in the 400m hurdles (57.57), one of only eight Sun Devil women to run a sub-60 time in the event.

During his first season with the Sun Devils, Miller led his 4x400m relay team to a Pac-10 title with Porchea Carroll, Hardeman, Cassandra Reed and Kandace Tucker running the race. The relay crown was the first won by the Sun Devils since the 1995 meet when ASU captured the 4x400m race and just the seventh time overall since the Sun Devils joined the conference in 1987.

Individually, Miller coached Carroll to a successful senior season that saw her tie the school record in the 60m dash (7.39) before becoming the first Sun Devil to crack the Top 8 on the all-time ASU 100m dash list in seven years when she clocked the fourth-fastest time of 11.44. Carroll, along with helping the relay team win conference gold, finished second in the Pac-10 at 200m and third at 100m in 2005. Adding in her third-place in the long jump and Carroll was the top performer for ASU at the Pac-10 Championships.

In his two seasons with UW, Miller brought in a bevy of great talent, including three prep All-Americans and numerous junior college transfers. In 2003, Miller guided seven sprinters to Top 10 marks on the all-time UW lists. Last year, Miller bolstered the Husky hurdlers with Ashley Lodree. The freshman would go on to break all the freshman school records and was ranked among the Top 5 junior-age hurdlers in the world. Miller also put together a solid men's 4x400m relay that advanced to the NCAA Championships for the first time since 1998.

Prior to UW, Miller built Texas Tech's sprinters into one of the premier groups in the nation. In the 2002 season, he guided student-athletes to 13 All-America honors while the men's 4x100m relay team captured its first Big XII championship title. That same recruit class, led by Jonathon Johnson, was ranked as high as No. 4 in the nation and was considered the best in the Big XII Conference.

In 2001, the women shined both indoors and outdoors under Miller as seven school records were set. Indoors, Tami Zachary established the mark in the 60m dash (7.43) while Ngozi Iwu became the first TTU female to break the 54-second barrier, clocking a school record 53.67 in the 400m. Miller's 4x400m relay team also set the mark at 3:40.11 before they rewrote the record one year later at 3:36.97 to earn All-America honors by finishing eighth at the NCAA Championships. Reggie Hill also turned in several solid performances for the men, including a school-best 6.66 in the 60m.

On the outdoor track, true freshman Tiffany Green won the conference titles in the 100m and 200m (school record 22.98) and helped the 4x100m relay to third place and a school record at 44.35.

His final season with the Red Raiders saw a pair of record-setters compete under Miller, including Licretia Sibley, just the second woman in program history to multiple All-America honors in one season. She finished seventh in the 400m (54.26) and was a member of the record 4x400m relay that finished eighth. On the men's side, Miller guided Johnson to his impressive rookie campaign in which he became the first TTU freshman to claim multiple All-America honors in a season.

Miller earned his degree in exercise science from TTU in 1998 where he was an All-American. He also captured 13 all-conference honors for the Red Raiders. An eight-time NCAA qualifier for TTU, Miller also qualified for the US Olympic Team Trials in 1996 in both the 100m and 200m events.

Miller and his wife, Carol, have one daughter, Alandrea, and one son, Kameron.

Louie Quintana

Head Cross Country & Assistant Track & Field Coach • 5th Year
Men's and Women's Mid-Distance/Distance Events

Arizona State University's distance program is one of the strongest up-and-coming programs in the nation and leading the way is fifth-year head cross country coach and assistant track & field coach Louie Quintana, the 2006 USTFCCA National Assistant Track & Field Coach of the Year for Women's Distances. Not only have the Sun Devil distance runners made a name for themselves in recent years with their individual success under Quintana's guidance, the group as a whole has made a large impact in bringing the Sun Devil cross country and track & field program to the top of the national standings.

The women, in particular, have experienced great success under Quintana. This past fall, the women advanced to their ninth-consecutive NCAA Championships, the sixth-longest active streak in the nation, where the young Sun Devils placed 13th overall. One year before that, the harriers finished fourth in the nation before helping the indoor and outdoor track & field teams to third and fourth-place finishes, respectively, at the NCAA Championships, marking just the second time in NCAA history that a women's program had earned a trophy (Top 4) in all three meets in the same academic year.

His 2006 women placed second in the conference and third regionally to make the national meet with two rookies scoring in the Top 5 at the national race (Ali Kiley 68th and Kari Hardt 88th). The same two freshman also earned distinction as well with Kiley being selected as the 2006 Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year as the top freshman finisher at the conference race while Hardt, coming off a month-long layoff, placed as the top true freshman in the meet. Away from team competition, Hastings competed unattached at the USATF Club Cross Country Championships in San Francisco and won the meet, her second national title of 2006.

Quintana also guided a successful senior campaign for Aaron Aguayo as the team's top male runner placed ninth overall at the NCAA Championships to not only earn his second All-America honor, but also place the highest of any male in school history at the national meet and the second highest in the history of the program behind Lisa Aguilera's fifth-place showing at the 2000 event. He will now look to help Quintana make history on the track as a victory in the 3,000m steeplechase at the Pac-10 Championships for Aguayo will make him just the sixth male in Pac-10 history to win the same event four times.

On the track, the women again excelled as Amy Hastings captured the 5,000m run crown at the NCAA Indoor Championships while Victoria Jackson and Jenna Kingma attained All-America honors in the 5,000m and 3,000m runs, respectively. From there, the distance corps played a vital role in two of the outdoor championship meets as the women's distances collected 71 of the team's 154 points en route to winning the programs first Pac-10 team title before helping the team finish fourth nationally.

The Pac-10 meet saw the women's distances capture three titles with Hastings winning at 10,000m, Jackson securing the 5,000m title and Brooke Bennett winning the 3,000m steeplechase to give ASU a victory in the steeple event in each of the six years it has been contested. In all, the women combined to score 23 points in both the 5,000m and 10,000m events while adding another 22 in the steeple.

The men also fared well at the conference level with Aguayo winning his third steeplechase crown in a row, making him just the second man in Pac-10 history to three-peat while teammate Ryan Warrenburg placed second in the event. The duo also ran the 5,000m, finishing fifth and fourth, respectively.

After their success in Eugene, the Sun Devils took their show to Sacramento where Jackson won the 10,000m national title with Hastings placing fourth. The duo, along with Kingma, earned All-America honors. On the men's side, Aguayo and Warrenburg competed in the steeplechase and finished third and 10th, respectively, to attain All-America honors in the event for the second year in a row.

But the national success did not stop in Sacramento. At the USA Track & Field Championships in Indianapolis, Jackson was the top collegiate finisher in the 10,000m run, taking fifth place, while Lisa Galaviz (Aguilera) won the 3,000m steeplechase title. All told, Quintana's runners accumulated three national titles, nine All-America accolades and four Pac-10 titles during the 2005-06 academic year.

Academically, his runners also proved to be some of the best in the nation as five women and three men earned Academic All-USTFCCA honors, including Jackson being named the 2006 Female Scholar Athlete of the Year for outdoor track. All told, the distance runners combined for 34 Academic Pac-10 honors (17 in cross country and 17 in track) and six ESPN The Magazine Academic All-Region VIII accolades (three each in cross country and track).

Quintana's 2005 cross country squads shined brightly again as his women finished second in both the Pac-10 Championships and the NCAA West Region before earning the program's first trophy with a fourth-place showing at nationals. Hastings became the most decorated harrier in program history as the record holder for wins in a career (five) earned her third All-America award after finishing 13th.

The men, battling through injuries and without the services of 2004 All-American Aaron Aguayo, bounced back from a fifth-place showing at the conference level before placing third at the regional meet. Selected as an at-large team for the NCAA meet, the men placed 17th overall in just their fourth appearance and a program-best second NCAA Championship appearance in a row.

In 2004, his first season as a head coach, both teams shined as each placed second at the Pac-10 Championships before each took runner-up honors at the NCAA West Region Championships. All four team scores are program-record lows at each meet. Individually, Quintana guided Hastings to the 2004 Pac-10 Cross Country Championship while coaching several others to titles and All-America honors in cross country and on the track. Hastings won two races on the season, but her conference crown was historic as she became the first Sun Devil (male or female) to win the Pac-10 run. Hastings, as well as male counterpart Aguayo, would go on to finish 22nd at the national meet to attain All-America honors.

On the track, Hastings earned her second All-America honor of the year as she placed fifth at 5,000m indoors. Outdoors, the distance corps shined once again with Aguayo and Ryan Warrenburg earning All-America honors in track for the first time (3,000m steeplechase). At the conference level, the Sun Devil women maintained their dominance in the steeple event as Anna Masinelli gave ASU its fifth title in as many years while Aguayo repeated at the same distance for the men.

Leading up to his hire as the head coach of the harriers, Quintana served in several capacities with the Sun Devils, starting his time in Tempe as the program's graduate assistant coach in January 2002. Following two track and field seasons and one cross country, Quintana was promoted to assistant coach for both programs in August 2003 and also was charged with coordinating the programs' recruiting.

In his time as an assistant coach, Quintana helped tutor student-athletes to great success. In the 2003 cross country season, he helped Hastings and Desiree Davila make history as both runners earned All-America honors, marking the first time ASU has had two All-Americans in one season on the cross country course. He also coached Hastings to two individual wins on the year as she earned All-Pac-10 First Team and NCAA All-West Region honors. The women's team finished second in the conference for the second year in a row and advanced to their sixth NCAA Championship meet in a row where they placed 14th overall.

On the track in 2004, the distance runners again turned in several performances under Quintana's watchful eyes as both Hastings and Aguayo captured the 3,000m steeplechase titles at the Pac-10 Championships with Aguayo going on to win the regional crown as well. Indoors, Hastings earned All-America honors in the 5,000m run while also setting the school record in the event.

As the graduate assistant, Quintana had a hand in guiding the women's cross country team to their fifth NCAA appearance in a row. The women also finished second at both the 2002 NCAA West Region and Pac-10 Championship meets while establishing school records at both races for the lowest point total. The 2002 men's squad finished third at the conference meet and qualified two individuals, J.J. Duke and Fasil Bizuneh, for the NCAA Championships in Terre Haute, Ind. Quintana also spent time tutoring Hastings to a World Cross Country Junior Championship berth in Lausanne, Switzerland, where she was the top American finisher (20th place).

During his competitive career at Villanova University, he captained the Wildcat squad to a pair of Top 10 finishes, placing fourth in 1992 and ninth in 1994 at the NCAA Championships. Individually, he claimed three NCAA Cross Country All-America certificates with finishes of 16th, 14th, and 4th. Quintana also qualified for four indoor and outdoor NCAA Track and Field Championships as well as the 1992 USA Olympic Trials. In 1993, he was named Male Outstanding Performer at the prestigious Penn Relays and, for his efforts, made the cover of the July 1993 issue of Track and Field News.

In all, Quintana garnered nine All-America awards during his career on the Main Line. He earned his bachelor's degree in History from VU in 1996 and recently completed his Master's degree in Education Curriculum and Instruction with a major in Language and Literacy from ASU. A standout runner in high school, he was the 1990 National Footlocker Cross Country Champion.

Quintana and his wife, Andi, currently reside in Avondale with their two children; daughter, Ellie, and son, Charlie.

Terry Winston

Assistant Track & Field Coach • 3rd Season
Men's Sprints/Hurdles/Relays

Terry Winston returns for his third season overseeing the men's sprints, relays and hurdles at Arizona State University and will look to guide the men back to the top of the podium at both the conference and national level in 2006. Already in his tenure, All-America honors have been attained by several Sun Devils while 4x100m relay broke a 26-year old school record (2005) and the 4x400m relay nearly broke three minutes (2005).

During the 2006 campaign, Winston worked with two athletes that advanced to the NCAA Outdoor Championships with multi-event specialist Joshua Kinnaman earning All-America honors after finishing sixth at the national meet. In the sprints, sophomore Kelvin Love Jr., rebounded from an eighth-place showing in the 200m dash at the Pac-10 Championships to finish fifth in the region before taking 17th at the NCAA meet.

Winston also worked to improve the hurdle events and saw results during the indoor season as both Marquis Profit and Kinnaman placed their names on the ASU all-time Top 5 list in the 60m hurdles. Profit clocked a time of 8.17 while Kinnaman posted an 8.37, ranking them third and fifth, respectively. Kinnaman used that mark to win the MPSF Championship heptathlon title before going to finish eighth at the NCAA Championships and earn his first All-America honor in the event.

In his first NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships (2005), Winston's men finished second in the 4x400m relay as the quartet of Rich Allen, Seth Amoo, Lewis Banda and Domenik Peterson clocked a 3:00.57 in the finals of the meet, being edged by LSU. At the same meet, he also saw Amoo finish sixth in the 200m dash to earn All-America honors, making him just the seventh Sun Devil in school history and just the second since 1981 to finish among the Top 8. Indoors, he coached Peterson to a fourth-place finish at 200m in a school-record time of 20.43.

On the outdoor track, his team of Steven Koehnemann, Amoo, Peterson and Love Jr., turned in the fastest 4x100m relay time in school history at 38.71, breaking the 26-year-old record of 38.78 (the old mark was set in 1979 by Ron Brown, LaMonte King, Greg Moore and Dwayne Evans). The same four men also captured the 4x100m title at the Pac-10 Championships before winning the same race at the NCAA West Championships. Following their record, the relay was selected as the Pac-10 Co-Athletes of the Week (May 2) marking the first time in conference history a relay was honored with the weekly award.

Winston helped continue the long-standing tradition of success in the 4x400m relay at the conference level as Amoo, Banda, Jason Barton and Peterson won the Pac-10 title. Their victory gave ASU the event crown for the fifth year in a row and helped the Sun Devils sweep the relays for the second year in a row. With the victories in the relay events, Winston has now coached a conference champion in four of the last six seasons. Winston also coached his first individual Pac-10 champion with Amoo winning the 200m.

Prior to his hire in Tempe, Winston, who helped his school's win five conference team titles in his first six years of coaching, oversaw the men's and women's sprinters, hurdlers and jumpers for the Hokies of Virginia Tech. During his tenure, three individual Big East championship titles were won, including Jason Fludd in the triple jump in 2004. Winston also mentored his student-athletes to seven school indoor and outdoor records.

Outside the collegiate ranks, Winston also guided a pair of hurdlers to Top 5 finishes at the 2002 U.S. Championships, including Brandi Smith, the fourth-place finisher in the 400m hurdles that year. Smith's finish was considered one of the best turnarounds in her event after not qualifying for the US event one year earlier.

Before Winston made his way to Blacksburg, Va., he spent four seasons mentoring the men's and women's sprinters at Southwest Missouri State (SMS). During that time (1997-2001), Winston saw his women bring home three indoor and one outdoor conference championship crown while also securing All-America honors in the 4x400m relay during the 1999 campaign. He also coached several athletes during the off-season as the women secured three medals at the 1999 Central American and Caribbean Championships.

Prior to his stay at SMS, Winston spent two seasons with the Thundering Herd of Marshall (1996-97), again working with both the men's and women's teams. In his final season with MU, the men won the Southern Conference Championship with one of the sprinters being Randy Moss, a standout for the Herd's football team as well as a Pro Bowl selection for the NFL's Minnesota Vikings.

Winston, a native of Alton, Ill., competed as a student-athlete for Coach Kraft at South Carolina, running for the Gamecocks from 1992-94. In his final campaign, he finished as the runner-up in the indoor 55m hurdles and the outdoor 110m high hurdles at the 1995 SEC Championships. Winston completed his undergraduate studies at South Carolina where he earned a B.S. in criminal justice.

Jeremy Rasmussen

Assistant Coach for Cross Country/Track & Field and Director of Fundraising • 2nd Season

Much like Head Cross Country and Assistant Track & Field Coach Louie Quintana, Jeremy Rasmussen has moved up the rungs of the coaching ladder at Arizona State University, entering the 2006 season as the team's assistant coach. A former student-athlete in the Sun Devil program, Rasmussen was elevated to his current position after he served as a graduate assistant each of the last two seasons and as a volunteer coach during the 2003-04 season.

In his newest role with the program, Rasmussen will continue to work with the student-athletes on the cross country and track & field rosters while also assisting with administrative duties for the program. He also will serve as the Director of Fundraising for the program which will include the 'Devils on the Track' club.

As a member of the staff, Rasmussen has helped the Sun Devil distance program become one of the elite teams in the nation. In his time with the program, the women's cross country team has finished second in the Pac-10, set the school record for low points at the meet three times and finish fourth in the nation (2005). The men also have fared well, making the NCAA Championship field in both 2004 and 2005, the first time they have made back-to-back trips to the national meet.

A star in the steeplechase on the track as a student-athlete, Rasmussen has worked with several of the top steplers in the nation over the recent years, including Aaron Aguayo, the reigning three-time champion, and women's champions Amy Hastings, Anna Masinelli and Brooke Bennett. Prior to the 2006 cross country season, he also worked with former teammate Lisa (Aguilera) Galaviz as she won the 3,000m steeplechase at the 2006 USA Track & Field Championships.

Prior to his coaching and administrative duties, Rasmussen starred for the Sun Devils in both cross country and track and field. The 2000 Pac-10 Conference Champion in the 3,000m steeplechase and runner-up in both 2001 and 2002, Rasmussen helped the 2001 ASU men break the 100-point barrier at the conference competition for the first time in program history. Also in 2001, Rasmussen was ranked among the Top 45 steeplechase athletes in the nation, sitting 43rd overall. He nearly broke the Top 50 one year prior, ranking 56th in the national standings.

In cross country, he assisted the men's team in making history as the 1999 squad advanced to its first NCAA appearance where it placed 14th. That same year, the men also set the school record for fewest points at the regional meet and the second-best total in a Pac-10 meet.

A native of Minnesota and graduate of Mountain Ridge High School in Glendale, Ariz., Rasmussen earned his bachelor's degree in computer information systems from ASU in 2003. Currently working toward his Master's in Higher Education, Rasmussen recently attained his USA Track and Field Level 2 coaching certificate.

Rhonda Riley

Director of Operations for Cross Country/Track & Field
Mid-Distance/Distance • 2nd Season

Rhonda Riley returns for her second season with the Arizona State University cross country and track & field programs and her first season as its director of operations after serving one year as a graduate assistant coach. In her new role, Riley will manage the daily operations of the program and its administrative duties while also assisting the staff with various projects, such as alumni relations.

Riley, who came to Tempe from Pac-10 Conference rival Oregon State where she completed her undergraduate degree and served one year as a volunteer assistant coach, had a hand in one of the most successful seasons in Sun Devil history. The distance runners played an integral part in ASU becoming just the second women's program all-time to earn a 'triple crown' by finishing fourth or better in the national cross country, indoor track & field and outdoor track & field meets in the same academic year. The harriers finished fourth before the indoor team placed third. The women closed the season by placing fourth at the NCAA Outdoor Championships following the program's first Pac-10 Championship team crown.

During her year as a graduate assistant coach, Riley trained with several runners that posted impressive campaigns, including Amy Hastings, who earned her third All-America honor in cross country before winning the NCAA Indoor 5,000m national title. She also worked with NCAA Outdoor National 10,000m Champion Victoria Jackson and Pac-10 3,000m Steeplechase Champion Brooke Bennett among others.

Riley's first coaching position in the collegiate ranks was very eventful as she assisted Head Coach Kelly Sullivan in mentoring the first Beaver cross country and track and field teams since the University dropped the sports following the 1987-88 academic year. In the cross country program's first year back, OSU placed 10th at the Pac-10 Championships and 16th in the 28-team field at the NCAA West Region meet.

Prior to serving as a volunteer assistant with the Beavers, Riley spent two years coaching both cross country and track and field at Corvallis High School. An active runner herself, Riley competed in four marathons during her time as a student and as a coach, including the 2003 Portland Marathon where she was the ninth female finisher. Prior to the start of the 2007 track and field season, Riley completed her fifth marathon, finishing the P.F. Chang's Rock and Roll Marathon in Tempe in 3:01.26 and placing 12th overall. She also was the second Arizona woman to finish the race.

A native of Portland, Ore., Riley attained her bachelor's degree in early childhood education from Oregon State in 2004 and is currently pursuing her Master's degree in Higher Education from Arizona State.

VOLUNTEER COACHES

Ron Barela

Volunteer Track & Field Coach • 4th Season
Men's and Women's Pole Vault

Ron Barela returns for his fourth year as a volunteer assistant coach with the Arizona State University track and field program and will continue to work with the men's and women's pole vault student-athletes.

During the 2006 season, the Sun Devil women continued to show improvement with April Kubishta setting or tying the school record in both the indoor and outdoor event while his women continued to rewrite the record books. Kubishta became the third Sun Devil to break 13 feet in indoor competition, setting the new standard at 4.14m (13-7.00) while Cara Walker joined the 13-foot club with her clearance of 3.99m (13-1.00). Outdoors, Kubishta tied Angela Tavlarides' school record of 4.10m (13-5.25) while Walker cleared 3.81m (12-6.00) to become the third woman to break 12 feet. In all, Barela has coached all five women that make up the indoor record list and nine of the 10 women on the outdoor rankings board.

On the men's side, Barela helped multi-event standout Joshua Kinnaman attain All-America honors twice during the year as Kinnaman recorded a personal best clearance of 4.50m (14-9.00) at both the NCAA Indoor and NCAA Outdoor Championships en route to the national honor. Barela also helped Brandon Glenn become the seventh Sun Devil to clear 17 feet in competition as Glenn placed sixth at the Texas Relays to again record the second-best mark in school history of 5.30m (17-4.50).

The 2005 season saw solid improvements from the pole vault pits as Glenn finished seventh at the NCAA Indoor Championships to earn his first All-America honor and the first since for the program in the event since 1994. Glenn cleared 5.40m (17-8.50) to become No. 2 on the all-time indoor list at ASU and just the third Sun Devil to break the 17-foot mark in competition. Barela also worked with Tavlarides and Walker on the women's side, helping Tavlarides set the then-school record indoors with a clearance of 4.03m (13-2.50) while Walker became only the third vaulter to break 12 feet (3.90m/12-9.50).

Outdoors, Barela coached Glenn, Tavlarides and Walker toward the top of the ASU lists with Glenn tying for second all-time at 5.30m (17-4.50) while both women were the first to break 12 feet in competition for ASU with Tavlarides also becoming the first to clear 13 feet (4.10m/13-5.25). Walker finished with a best of 3.81m (12-6.00).

In outdoor championship meets, Barela's crew had mixed results. Tavlarides scored at the Pac-10 meet, finishing third overall before placing third in the region and 20th at the national meet. Walker improved from 13th at the conference to 11th at the regional meet while Glenn, who no-heighted at a soggy regional meet, finished as the Pac-10 runner-up.

In his first season leading the pole vaulters, Barela coached Tavlarides to a pair of school records while also helping a pair of men, Glenn and Stephen Dolk, earn positions on the school's top marks list. Tavlarides set the school standard at 3.66m (12-00.00) indoors before establishing the outdoor mark at 3.80m (12-5.00). For the men, Dolk scored at the Pac-10 Championship meet (eighth place) while Glenn represented the United States at the IAAF World Junior Championships following a second-place finish in the American meet.

Barela has been a part of the Arizona State track and field program in the past as a student-athlete. Following one year at New Mexico Junior College in Hobbs, N.M., Barela came to Tempe where he competed in pole vault and decathlon events for the Sun Devils. A member of ASU's 1977 NCAA Championship team, Barela still ranks among the best in pole vault at ASU. He is tied for ninth on the outdoor lists with a mark of 16-8 achieved in 1980 and is tied for fourth indoors with a mark of 16-6.

Following three years of competition with the Sun Devils, Barela graduated in 1980 with his Bachelor's in education and was hired on to teach at Tempe High School. Barela taught physical education and coached the track and field and volleyball teams from 1980-1985. Following his teaching stint, he opened his own car dealership, which he still operates today.

In 1997, Barela returned to the coaching ranks and began overseeing the pole vaulters of Desert Vista High School in Tempe. In his seven years with DVHS, he guided six vaulters to state runner-up crowns. He also assisted in leading the team to state team titles. In 1999, the girls won the Arizona 5A title before finishing as runners-up each of the last three seasons.

Barela also coached two vaulters to Junior Olympic national titles in 2003 as Kubishta and Glenn each brought home gold medals. Barela also coached Kubishta to back-to-back 4A state titles. She also still holds the state record of 13-0.25. One year prior to his national success, Barela took on more coaching duties as he began to guide the pole vaulters at Mesa Community College in 2002. In his two years at MCC, his vaulters finished as national runners-up six times total in men's and women's indoor and outdoor pole vault while also earning All-America accolades.

Barela continues to compete following his return to the track in 1998. That year, he competed in the USA Masters Championships in Orono, Maine, in the 40+-age division. He won the national tournament with a vault of 15-1 and earned a berth into the Nike World Masters Games in Eugene, Ore. Competing in two events, Barela finished as the runner-up in both the pole vault and the pentathlon. He is still in training as his goal is to break the world record for pole vaulting in the 50-59 age division.

Ron and his wife Christine reside in Phoenix with their three children, Chris, Patricia and Cynthia. All three of his children enjoy competing in track and field events with Chris and Cynthia both participating in pole vault and Patricia in distance running.

Dan O'Brien

Volunteer Track & Field Coach • 2nd Season
Multi-Events

Dan O'Brien returns for his second season as a volunteer coach on the Arizona State University track and field staff and will again work with the multi-event athletes following another successful season in 2006.

O'Brien worked with Jacquelyn Johnson and Joshua Kinnaman during the indoor and outdoor seasons, helping both attain All-America honors in both seasons.

Both athletes sat out much of the 2005 season, but came back strong in 2006. Johnson, following a redshirt season, won both the indoor pentathlon and the outdoor heptathlon to collect her second and third national titles, respectively, while also collecting the third and fourth All-America honors in her career. Following an injury, Kinnaman earned the first two All-America honors of his career, placing eighth in the indoor heptathlon before taking sixth in the outdoor decathlon.

One of the top athletes in the history of the sport, O'Brien won the decathlon at the 1996 Atlanta Olympics and earned the distinction of the "World's Greatest Athlete". Prior to his gold medal performance in the Summer Games, he won gold medals at the 1991, 1993 and 1995 World Championships while adding titles at the 1994 Goodwill Games in St. Petersburg, Russia. O'Brien later added a Goodwill Games title at the 1998 meet in New York.

After securing gold at the 1991 USA Track & Field Championships, O'Brien captured the same crown four years in a row (1993-1996) heading into the Atlanta Games. At the start of that run, he also stepped out of the decathlon to compete at the 1993 IAAF World Championships and won the heptathlon title with a world record point total. His success at the national level also earned him another distinction as his five championships tied him with Bill Toomey for the most ever in the history of the meet.

A native of Portland, Ore., O'Brien is no stranger to the Pac-10 Conference as he served as a volunteer assistant coach at conference rival Washington State from 1992-98. Then, in 1997, he moved to the Valley where he continued to train and compete.

Despite injuries preventing him from competing for the United States, O'Brien was a part of the last two Olympiads. Working with NBC, O'Brien provided analysis for the television network's coverage of track and field in both the 2000 Sydney Games and the 2004 Athens Games.

Prior to his success on the international stage, O'Brien competed for and graduated from the University of Idaho. In his senior campaign, he earned All-America honors by placing seventh at the NCAA Indoor Championships in the 55m hurdles. The former Vandal now has his name adorning on the home venue of his Alma mater, the Dan O'Brien Track Complex.

O'Brien currently resides in Scottsdale with his wife, Leilani, and continues to speak and broadcast at events around the country.

Frank Perez

Assistant Athletic Trainer • 1st Season

Accreditations: MAT, ATC, LAT

Frank Perez enters his first season as the athletic trainer for the Arizona State University track & field and cross country programs after joining the Sports Medicine staff in December of 2006.

A native of Slaton, Texas, Perez earned his Bachelor of Science in Exercise Sports Science as well as a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish from Texas Tech University in 2002. From there, Perez earned a Master's degree in Athletic Training from the TTU Health Sciences Center in 2006.

Prior to joining the Sun Devil Athletic Department, Perez worked with Physiotherapy Associates and served as the head athletic trainer for Shadow Mountain High School in the Valley. Before coming to Arizona, Perez worked for TTU Health Sciences Center and oversaw the men's basketball and track & field programs. During the same time, he worked with athletes from Lubbock Christian and Lubbock Estacado high schools.

In his spare time, Perez enjoys mountain biking, hiking, fishing, camping and spending time with his dog, Sydney.

Perez is a member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association, the Rocky Mountain Athletic Trainer's Association and the Arizona Athletic Trainer's Association.

Ben Hilgart

Sr. Assistant Coach - Sports Performance • 2nd Season

Accreditations: MS, CSCS, SCCC, USAW1

Ben Hilgart is in his second year as a Senior Assistant Coach for Sports Performance where he coordinates the strength and conditioning program for the track and field program. Hilgart's duties also see him work with the cross country and wrestling squads while also assisting with football.

A native of Park Falls, Wis., Hilgart attended and played football at Western Illinois University where he graduated in 2000 with a B.S. in Physical Education. From there, he attended the University of Texas at El Paso where he earned his M.S. in Kinesiology in 2003.

Prior to attaining his current position within Sun Devil Athletics, Hilgart served as an Associate Strength and Conditioning Coach at The Ohio State University where he worked with men's and women's track and field, women's cross country, wrestling, men's swimming and men's and women's lacrosse.

Hilgart began his career at Western Illinois, serving as the Head Strength and Conditioning Coach for Football while also serving as an assistant defensive line coach with the team. From there, he served as a graduate assistant at UTEP and coordinated the efforts for men's and women's track and field (throwers) and men's and women's golf while assisting with football, men's and women's basketball and women's volleyball.

Hilgart and his wife, Jamie, reside in Phoenix with their one-year-old daughter, Riley.

Andrea DiTrani

Graduate Assistant Athletic Trainer • 1st Season

Andrea DiTrani is entering her first season as the graduate assistant athletic trainer for the Arizona State University track and field program after working with the cross country program during the fall of 2006.

A native of Staten Island, N.Y., DiTrani earned her Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training from Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., in 2006. A student-athlete as well, DiTrani was a four-year member of the Red Fox cross country and track & field programs, serving as the team captain for two seasons.

Following her playing days, DiTrani continued on in the Red Fox athletic department as an athletic trainer working with the football, softball and men's lacrosse programs. Prior to coming to Tempe, she also worked with the volleyball and women's lacrosse programs at Vassar College.

DiTrani, who enjoys running and soccer, is currently working toward her Master of Science in Athletic Training degree at the Arizona School of Health Sciences.

Shay Jewitt

Academic Advisor - Women's Team • 1st Season

Office of Student-Athlete Development

Shay Jewett enters her first season as the Academic Advisor for the Arizona State University women's track & field and cross country program and her eighth year overall as a member of the Office of Student-Athlete Development.

Jewett works with the Sun Devils by monitoring their individual progress towards graduation and assisting with course selection and adherence to NCAA, Pac-10 and ASU academic eligibility rules.

Prior to working at ASU, Jewett was the Director of Counseling at Colby Community College in Colby, Kan. A native of northwest Kansas, Jewett earned her Master of Science degree in Student Counseling and Personnel Services from Kansas State University and her Bachelor of Arts in English from Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan.

Jennifer Pawson

Graduate Assistant Athletic Trainer • 1st Season

Accreditations: ATC, LAT, CSCS

Jennifer Pawson enters her first season as a graduate assistant athletic trainer with the Arizona State University track and field program this year after working with the cross country teams during the fall.

A native of Huntington Beach, Calif., Pawson was a 2006 graduate of the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., where she earned her B.A. in Sports Science with an emphasis in Athletic Training. While with the Tigers, Pawson worked with the women's volleyball, softball, women's water polo and men's basketball programs on campus while also covering numerous high school football events.

Pawson is currently working toward her Master's degree in community resources and development with a focus on recreation at Arizona State. Away from work and school, Pawson enjoys outdoor sports, watching the Los Angeles Lakers (NBA) and spending time with family and friends.

Brady Rourke

Academic Advisor - Men's Team • 1st Season

Office of Student-Athlete Development

Brady Rourke is entering his first season as the Academic Coach for the Arizona State University men's track & field and cross country program as well as his first year working with the Office of Student-Athlete Development.

Rourke will work with the Sun Devil men to continue their pursuits of graduation from Arizona State while assisting them with course selection and adherence to NCAA, Pac-10 and ASU academic eligibility rules.

Prior to joining the ASU staff, Rourke served as a graduate assistant at Penn State following his playing days as a student-athlete on the Nittany Lion baseball team. A native of Saxton, Pa., Rourke earned his Bachelor of Science in Rehabilitation Services from Penn State University in 2003 before attaining his Master of Education in Higher Education Administration from Penn State in 2006.

SUN DEVILS

TEAM HISTORY

TRADITION

THE SUN DEVIL WOMEN

To say the 2006 track and field season for the Arizona State University women's team was a banner year would be a huge understatement. The Sun Devils exploded onto the national scene at the NCAA Indoor Championships with a third-place national finish. They followed that by winning their first Pac-10 Championship before heading to Sacramento, Calif., where they tied for fourth place nationally. As the 2007 seasons approaches, expectations and goals are high for the Sun Devil women.

"We are looking at moving up on the national list, which is a short list," Greg Kraft, the program's 11th-year head coach, said. "We return 29 of our 30 points that earned us a third-place finish at the indoor national championships last year and also return 27 of our 37 points from the outdoor meet. We have matured and improved a lot from last year. Losing Victoria Jackson will have an impact on us after she won an outdoor national title and accounted for 18 points at the Pac-10 Championships, but a lion's share of our points are back this year and I feel all of those women, from the 100 meters to the 10,000 meters and all nine of the field events, that we are significantly better in 2007."

After securing four trophies last year (including a fourth-place showing at the 2005 NCAA Cross Country Championships), the women have national crowns in sight.

"We definitely have team goals this year, but it is a collective effort by everyone taking care of their own business and controlling what they can control," Kraft said. "The only thing they can control is what they do; their training and resting, etc., and the team goals will be taken care of if they continue to take care of their own business."

With so much returning talent on the roster and the addition of several key components, the Sun Devils have put themselves in a position to succeed.

"I think this will be one of the first times we enter the season with a target on our chests," Kraft said. "In the past, we have played the 'Boise State-Fiesta Bowl' chip that no one respects us and we are under-ranked. Track and Field News came out in December and had us projected in a three-team race with South Carolina and Texas A&M for the national title, all within three points of each. It is flattering they are paying attention to us, but on the flip side, we still have to continue to train and show up ready to compete each and every time."

As the fall and early winter training winds down and the competition dates draw near, the Sun Devils look ready to pick up where they left off in 2006.

"Everyone has been training well this fall and I am very excited to see what we can do once competition begins," Kraft said. "I like the maturity of our team. What I like about our women's team is that from No. 1 to No. 40, every athlete is competitive."

THROWS

All puns aside, the throws group has certainly become a strength for the women's program in recent years, especially with the emergence of All-Americans Sarah Stevens and Jessica Pressley. The duo earned four All-America honors between them in 2006 and will be counted upon to continue their surges toward the top of the standings again in 2007.

"One of our strengths certainly is the throwing events and Sarah Stevens and Jessica Pressley really do lead this group," Kraft said. "Stevens was a Pac-10 Champion and All-American as a red-shirt freshman and has the potential to be a four-time champion in the shot put and not many women can say that. Right behind her is Pressley who, combined with Stevens, are going to have a big impact on what we do at the conference level, particularly at the national championships indoors. It will be exciting to watch them compete after the great fall of training they had."

Although Stevens and Pressley will be carrying the load up front, the program has another talented newcomer waiting in the wings. Tai Battle brings solid depth to the throws group and has the potential to give the Sun Devils extra points in the championships.

"Battle, a transfer from Moorpark Community College, is right behind Stevens on the US Junior list in the discus," Kraft said. "The discus looks like an event that we could have the potential to finish 1-2-3 and that is really huge for us, especially as we try to defend our Pac-10 title."

Kraft also looks for two other women to add points to the team total while competing in the javelin.

"Becky Holley has done a nice job and improved each year," Kraft said. "We feel she is ready to do some nice things for us on the conference level. Jacquelyn Johnson also has improved in her field events and we feel she could potentially score for us in the javelin this year as well."

DISTANCE & MID-DISTANCE

A big key to the Sun Devils' successful run to a conference championship was the running of the distance athletes, who accounted for 71 of the team's 154 points.

"This group really got us going last year and came in to save the day with a great 5,000m run showing," Kraft said. "There are five distance events and we are a little thin on the 800m and 1,500m side of things, but that will depend on how we decide to use our personnel. Jessie McLaughlin and Whitney Lemieux really need to step up and give us a presence in those events and I feel they will do so."

They will not be alone as the team could also send out Jenna Kingma, the cross country team's top finisher much of the 2006 season.

"Kingma was a scorer for us in the 1,500m last year and has evolved after exploding on the scene since then," Kraft said. "She scored indoors last year and really helped us to a third-place team finish. For her to score in the 1,500m and then run in the 5,000m as a redshirt freshman in the Pac-10 Championships, that is no easy double by any stretch and Kingma showed she is capable of competing at a high level for us."

Depth is certainly not a concern of the longer races for this group, including the 3,000m steeplechase, an event the Sun Devil program has dominated at the conference level, winning all six races run. And speaking of depth, five different women have won the event for ASU.

"The steeplechase has always been an event our women have excelled at and we have three women on our roster this year who are former Pac-10 champions in the event in Amy Hastings (2004), Anna Masinelli (2005) and Brooke Bennett (2006)," Kraft said. "Having the potential to go 1-2 to start the meet, just as we did last year, and add in an improved Corey Randall, it is a big deal to earn 20-plus points to start and we need to do that again this year."

Another big deal last year was the Sun Devils' presence in the final distance event of the conference meet, the 5,000m run.

"I always tell the teams that at the conference championships, we need to have a presence in the last three events (200m dash, 5,000m run and 4x400m relay) to make a run at a title," Kraft said. "When we lined up eight runners in the event last year, it sent the message to everyone what our intent was. To have five women score was a big deal and really helped us win. I feel the 5,000m run should help us again this year with four returning scorers."

Despite losing the conference champion in Victoria Jackson at 5,000m, the Sun Devils do return third-place finisher and indoor 5,000m NCAA Champion Amy Hastings, along with Kingma (fifth), Bennett (seventh) and Randall (eighth). Several of these women also will be counted upon to pick up valuable points in the 10,000m run as the team looks to repeat as champions.

"The 10,000m was another strong event for us last year and going 1-2 was big," Kraft said. "Cassie Rios finishing fourth to earn more points for the team was huge not only for the team race, but it was a stepping-off point for her this fall in cross country. Losing Jackson is certainly a loss for us and we will have to do this by committee, but having Hastings up front and Rios continuing to improve is great. We now just need someone to step into Rios' shoes and get some points we might not have counted on."

SPRINTS, HURDLES & RELAYS

The group in the program that has continued to improve and appears ready to make some noise in 2007 is the sprinters, hurdlers and relays. Although the group does not possess the depth of other areas, they do have several key components that will help the team in its quest for championships.

"We have a similar situation to the distance group in that we are thin in the shorter events like the 100m and 200m," Kraft said. "Bridgette Williams had a great fall and I look for her to double for us at the Pac-10 meet; I am just not sure what two events that will be. Latoya Imadiyi has really improved in the 100m and 200m this fall and we look for her to break through and score in one of the events this year."

Moving into the longer events, the 400m dash and the 400m hurdles, the women will look to count upon an improved Latosha Wallace to propel the team on.

"In the quarter mile, Williams is vastly improved, but Wallace is really the heart and soul of the team," Kraft said. "She had an incredible double last year in the 400m hurdles and the open quarter before running in the 4x400m relay. She will have to do the same thing again this year and, just like Williams, she has improved greatly this fall. Both had great junior college careers, have really improved every day they have been on campus and I look forward to seeing them shine for us in 2007."

Although she is considered the heart and soul of the team, Wallace will have two younger athletes with her as the coaching staff hopes to see them learn from the veteran leader.

"True freshman Jasmine Chaney came under the radar as a multiple state champion and we are hoping she can break through to the finals in both the 100m and 400m hurdle events this year," Kraft said. "Shaun-tel Elcock came last year as a mid-year student after a storied high school career in Indiana, but truthfully came in out of shape and did not have the impact we were hoping for. She needs to step up this year to really help us over the hump and I feel she will."

The sprint group also will rely on the skills of Jacquelyn Johnson, the third-place finisher in the 100m hurdles at the 2006 Pac-10 Championships.

"Johnson was a third-place finisher in the 100m hurdles last year and is one of the top returning hurdlers in the conference," Kraft said. "The success she enjoys in the multi-events really starts with the hurdles. She is a great competitor and I expect nothing less of her than to earn points in the events again this year."

JUMPS

Last year, the women earned several points from the jumping events, including the long jump and the high jump. Heading into the 2007 season, the coaches feel that will be the same this year with more points and the addition of points from another event.

"We are thin in this area, but, just like the other event groups, good up front," Kraft said. "Jacquelyn Johnson is a former Pac-10 champion in the high jump and was the runner-up last year following a marathon jump-off. She also was sixth-place in the long jump and that shows she can do it all. We can't have her do it all for us to win and I feel there are several women ready to step up."

"Stephanie Garnett was an All-American in the long jump indoors and a MPSF runner-up indoors, but tired a little outdoors and only finished eighth in the conference," Kraft said. "I know she is better than that finish and I look for her to move up the standings this season."

Several years ago, the Sun Devils did not have a pole vaulter on the roster. Entering the 2007 campaign, the women now boast three vaulters that could have a significant impact on the team races, both on the conference and national levels.

"In the pole vault, we return a deep squad that is led by April Kubishta, who seemingly recorded personal best clearances by a centimeter each week last year," Kraft said. "She was in position to be a significant scorer at the indoor national meet, but a really bad illness hit her that really held her back much of the rest of the season. For us to reach our goals, she just needs to do what she is capable of and that is jump very high. I like the fall training she had this year and I am excited to see her compete. Supporting her are Cara Walker and Alana Waterford, both of which could be four-meter or better jumpers. If they do that at the right time, they could score significant points for us."

MULTI-EVENTS

Jacquelyn Johnson returns for her junior year and is holder of three NCAA titles after sweeping the indoor pentathlon and outdoor heptathlon in 2006. One of the top athletes in the nation, Johnson has her sights set on repeating her national sweep as well as adding a third Pac-10 heptathlon crown.

"Johnson can do it all," Kraft said. "She continues to improve and is one of the top athletes in the nation. I am excited to see her compete and I look forward to watching her contend for more national titles in 2007."

SUN DEVIL MEN

Heading into the 2007 season, the Arizona State University men's track and field team will look to rebound from a disappointing 2006 campaign by relying on the strength of several returning veterans while hoping an infusion of newcomers, both young and old, will create the right formula for success.

"Last year was a disappointing season for us on many different levels," Kraft said. "I really feel our men are some what under the radar this year and that we will compete for a Top 3 finish in the conference and a Top 10 placement in the national rankings. What I like about our team is we have excellent balance. We have outstanding sprinters and great distance runners and we will need some guys to step up in the middle-distance events to really push us toward the top. Coach Quintana brought in an outstanding distance class this year with five very fine high school athletes, but we will redshirt them this year to better prepare them for the years to come."

Leading the charge for the Sun Devils will be four-time All-American Aaron Aguayo, who paced the cross country team during the fall and placed ninth at the NCAA Championships, the highest finish by a Sun Devil male in the event. Sprinter Domenik Peterson will be counted upon to lead a resurgence in the speed division and help put the Sun Devils back on top of the podium in the relays. Another veteran that will be counted upon to show continued improvement will be multi-event specialist Joshua Kinnaman.

"The men have some solid competitors leading the way," Kraft said. "Aguayo, Peterson and Kinnaman are all very capable of doing big things this year and I look forward to seeing what is on the horizon for each."

But that trio will not be counted upon to lead the way completely as highly-heralded Ryan Whiting will head into his first collegiate season after redshirting last year and will be joined in his first season by two solid transfers in distance athlete Kyle Alcorn (Oregon) and jump-specialist Matt Turner (CS Fullerton).

In similar fashion to the women's team, depth may play a factor on the men's side as well.

"Many of the areas of the men's team may be a little thin this year, but we are very strong up front," Kraft said. "We will cover all of our bases. The key will be several individuals stepping up and preforming like they have in the past and add to that the contributions of the younger athletes. If we can have athletes step up and record the marks we feel they are capable of, we will be able to reach our goals. Like the women, we need to take care of our individual efforts and our team goals will be achieved."

THROWS

In recent years, the men's throws have continued to improve with David Dumble at the helm. This year should be no different as several veterans return in Tomas Navarro and Andrew Smith while redshirt freshman Ryan Whiting and Jason Lewis also join the group.

"I like the depth we have, but we also are strong up front," Kraft said. "The Pac-10 Conference is always the deepest conference in the country in terms of the men's throws, so points will be tough to come by, but I feel we have the talent to earn some points."

One of those talented throwers is Whiting, the 2005 Gatorade National High School Athlete of the Year.

"I never like to over-hype an athlete that has not yet worn the maroon and gold, but Ryan Whiting is as good a high school athlete that Arizona State University has ever recruited," Kraft said. "I believe he was just the 12th high school athlete to throw 70-feet in the shot put and was the first high school athlete in 20 years to be ranked in Track and Field News in the shot put and discus. He was already a gold medalist at the Pan-Am Games and is a great competitor which makes me very eager to watch him."

Whiting will be joined by classmate Lewis and junior Tomas Navarro, who has been the leader of the men's throwers in recent years, placing the highest of the throwers on the conference level.

"One of the biggest surprises we have had was the development of Jason Lewis over the last year," Kraft said. "Part of that is he has been able to train with Whiting and he is another athlete we are excited to see compete. Navarro has scored for us in the past at the Pac-10 meet and has never looked better heading into the season."

The javelin looks to be another strong area of the throws with the return of Andrew Smith, who ranks fifth on the all-time Arizona State lists.

"Smith came back after already graduating and we are very fortunate he did," Kraft said. "He is our big guy in the javelin and will be backed by Brad Roth, who has the potential to score. Another to look for as a possible scorer is Joshua Kinnaman. He had some injury problems last year, but he has been training better this fall and is improved to where I feel he could be a scorer in the javelin as well."

DISTANCE & MID-DISTANCE

Just as the women's program has had success in the steeplechase, the men have enjoyed similar success via one runner: Aaron Aguayo. The three-time defending steeplechase champion in the Pac-10, Aguayo has been the face of Sun Devil distance running in recent years and will look to close out his career on top once again.

"I could go on for days about what Aguayo has done for this program," Kraft said. "He has won three Pac-10 steeplechase titles and is looking for his fourth this season and is coming off a great fall where he finished ninth in the nation at the cross country championships, the highest finish for an ASU male in the event ever. He is a guy that has improved every year and has always been incredibly tough throughout. His competitive drive inspires me and I know he has an effect on the rest of the team."

Aguayo will have to look out for fellow teammate Kyle Alcorn, a talented steepler in his own right, while going for his fourth conference crown.

"He is a talented runner and a great finisher, so Aguayo's try for four Pac-10 titles could be challenged by Alcorn's talent," Kraft said. "Alcorn will be able to feed off Aguayo's competitiveness this year. Aguayo's success might overshadow him a little, but I feel he can be a great steepler in his own right and should prove that this year."

The talent of Aguayo and Alcorn up front not only in the steeplechase but other events as well, will allow for younger athletes, such as steepler David Mehlhorn and numerous rookies, to train with some of the top runners in the nation.

"When we look at the 5,000m run, Aguayo and Alcorn continue to lead that group, but the guy that continues to improve for us is Joey Heller," Kraft said. "Heller's development is very critical for us, especially as I look down the road where I see him carrying the mantle for us. He had a great fall, is very coachable and continues to do what he needs to do to improve."

Distance running in the Pac-10, much like the throwing events, produces a very tough field of competitors. If the men hope to climb up the final standings at the 2007 Pac-10 Championships in Palo Alto, Calif., they will have to receive strong showings from several individuals in the shortest and longest distance runs.

"In the 10,000m run, we have been pushing to get any points we can since it is tough to do in the Pac-10 Conference, and we may need several people to step up and enter the event," Kraft said. "When I look at the roster, I know Eric Dall is a guy for us that can step up and really excel in the event."

"In the 1,500m run, Jack Mann will be our go-to guy at the conference level," Kraft said. "It is hard to say who else might develop into helping in this distance, but I am confident in Mann's ability to score for us. If we can get several men to step into the 1,500m and 10,000m and score some points, that could be the difference in being third or fourth place."

Waiting in the wings is an impressive group of freshmen, several of whom received their first tastes of collegiate competition during the 2006 cross country season.

"We had an outstanding recruit class put together by Coach Quintana with the likes of Ben Engelhardt, Mikias Gelagle, Jeff Helmer, Garrett Kelly and Patrick Milloy," Kraft said. "Although they are talented athletes, we want them to develop and will redshirt them this season and really be able to take the time to work on their craft for the future of the team. We feel the more prepared they are to compete in the Pac-10 Conference, the more success our program will have in the future."

SUN DEVIL COACHING STAFF

"The way my management style has been is we always have been fortunate at Arizona State to have an incredible coaching staff. Last year, both Louie Quintana and David Dumble were recognized as USTFCCA National Assistant Coaches of the Year (women's distance and women's throws, respectively). When I look at the jobs they have done and the other coaches that I have worked with that have gone on to do great things with other programs, I know I am very fortunate with the staff I have here. Terry Winston and Dion Miller have done a very good job with our sprinters, hurdlers and relays and the quality of volunteer coaches we have in Ron Barela and Dan O'Brien provides an outstanding training environment for our student-athletes. When I look at our program's potential for success, it really begins and ends with our coaching staff. When I see how they work and interact with the athletes in their areas, it gives me cause for optimism on the season and the future of the Sun Devil program."

SPRINTS, HURDLES & RELAYS

For years, the men's sprint events are what Sun Devil track and field was known for. Winners of five-consecutive 4x400m relay crowns at the Pac-10 Championships (2001-05), the men wore the bulls-eye as the team to beat. After a disappointing fifth-place showing last year and hampered by injuries, the Sun Devils will look to take back the crown with a solid group of competitors in 2007.

"One of our strengths in recent years has been the relays and we had a disappointing season last year," Kraft said. "With Rodney Glass, Domenik Peterson, Kelvin Love Jr. and Justin Kremer, we feel our 4x100m relay is every bit as good as our 38.71 team from two years ago with Love Jr. and Peterson on that relay. In our mile relay, we feel we are back in contention to win with Kremer, Peterson, Love Jr. and Jimmie Gordon, which is an outstanding group of talent."

Individually, the torch-bearer of the group is the talented Peterson, a versatile athlete that has excelled in the 100m, 200m and 400m events.

"We return really an outstanding senior in Peterson who, on paper, is the top returning 100m and 200m finisher from the conference meet last year," Kraft said. "He also has a 45.15 mark in the 400m dash to his credit. Peterson has had an up and down career with the highs being very high and the lows being very low. I feel he is a guy that as he continues to mature and realizes this is his last go around that he is looking to go out as a Pac-10 champion. I liken it to how Seth Amoo finished his career as he did not win his first title until his senior year. We are looking for Peterson to win his first title this year."

Peterson will not be in it alone as his supporting cast can make an impact as well.

"Peterson will be pushed in the 200m dash by Love Jr., who had his best fall heading into the season," Kraft said. "When you look at Love Jr., the word that comes to mind is maturing. He continues to mature and I think he understands his event far better now than he ever has and that is exciting for us."

While Peterson and Love Jr., have the experience of competing at the Division I level for three and two years, respectively, the coaching staff is excited about what two newcomers can bring to the table this year.

"We also have two guys that really are interesting to me in Gordon and Kremer," Kraft said. "Gordon came in after flying under the radar in community college and was injured last year. The way he has trained this fall and if he can stay healthy, I believe he has the ability to be another one of ASU's 44-point 400m runners."

"Kremer has been a delight for us in his short time here," Kraft said. "He came here from Grand Canyon High School where he won the state titles in the 100m, 200m, 400m and long jump and 47.91 at that state meet where 52-seconds was second place, which is hard to do. What people don't understand about Kremer is his high school team had no competition as well as not having a track. It was hard to do what he did, especially since he did not have a track to train on and was basically running by himself."

In the short sprints, the Sun Devils will look to Rodney Glass, who redshirted his freshman campaign with the football team this fall as a running back.

"The wildcard of this group is Glass, who football coach Dennis Erickson has graciously released to us for the spring," Kraft said. "He is the reigning California state champion at 100m and had the top mark in the nation among high school boys last year at 10.32. He will be able to make an immediate impact on this team."

In the hurdles, Marquis Profit will once again be called upon to compete in the 110m and 400m events and continue to improve as he has done each of the last two years.

"Last year, we snuck a point in the 400m hurdles with Profit," Kraft said. "He continues to improve and we look for him to be a Pac-10 scorer not only in the intermediate event, but also in the high hurdles as well."

JUMPS

The jumps will take on a whole new look this year as just one man is back, All-American pole vaulter Brandon Glenn. Gone is Pac-10 triple jump champion Ryan Zimmerman, but the infusion of redshirt athletes and the transfer of Matt Turner should pay dividends immediately.

"We return an All-American in Brandon Glenn in the pole vault who struggled a little last year," Kraft said. "He has hit it hard this fall and has never looked better heading into a season. We look for him to contend for the Pac-10 title and earn All-America honors at the national meets. He will be backed by two freshmen in Joe Fazio and Corey Phallen, who we feel that, in time, can score for us at the conference level."

The addition of Turner will give the Sun Devils a solid competitor in the high, long and triple jumps this season, something the coaching staff is looking forward to at the Pac-10 Championships.

"In the high jump, Turner brings a personal best of 2.20m (7-2.50)," Kraft said. "In my time here, we have not had a dedicated jumper to this event and having Turner is great for us this year because the high jump was hit hard at the conference level last year by graduation. I feel he can step in right away and contend for the Pac-10 title this year."

"Turner also has the talent to come back and challenge for the title in the long jump as well," Kraft said. "He was 10th at the NCAA Outdoor Championships last year for Cal State Fullerton and has had a nice fall. He also will compete in the triple jump for us, so we feel strongly that he will be a solid contributor from day one."

Turner will have help in the jumps in the form of freshmen Kyle Anderson and Jeremy Egboro while Joshua Kinnaman could also play a role in the long jump.

"Anderson won the indoor Nike championships last year and is a very raw talent, but is very coachable and has been a pleasure to work with," Kraft said. "In the triple jump, Egboro will also compete and we look for both athletes to help the program by continuing to improve."

MULTI-EVENTS

In his two years of competing for the Sun Devils, Joshua Kinnaman has continued to improve in the heptathlon and decathlon, including earning All-America accolades in both events last year. The two-time Pac-10 runner-up in the decathlon, Kinnaman will be looked to as a great starting point for the team's hopes at the conference level as the decathlon is held one week prior to the Pac-10 meet.

"Kinnaman was our most decorated athlete last year after earning All-America honors in the decathlon and placing second at the Pac-10 Championships," Kraft said. "He has really developed nicely under the tutelage of Olympic Champion Dan O'Brien. He has matured nicely over his time here and he is incredibly gifted as an athlete. He has done a great job for us and it would not surprise me if he made some big noise this year."

The 2005-06 academic year was one for the record books at Arizona State as the women's track & field and cross country program combined to take home trophies at all three national championship events by placing fourth or better as a team at the NCAA Championships for cross country, indoor track & field and outdoor track & field. The Sun Devils placed fourth at the cross country nationals before placing third at the indoor meet and tied for fourth at the outdoor track and field nationals, marking just the second time in the 24-year history of NCAA women's championships and the 29th time ever (men and women) that the same program earned trophies at all three meets in the same academic year. The only other women's program to do so was the Lady Vols of Tennessee, who placed fourth at the 1983 cross country meet before finishing second at both the 1984 indoor and 1984 outdoor track and field events. On the men's side, Arkansas leads the way by earning three trophies in one academic year 13 times and are followed by Texas at El Paso (UTEP) with eight, Stanford with three, Washington State with two and Villanova with one.

2005 Women's Cross Country
Placed fourth at the NCAA Championships

The Sun Devils scored a program-best 191 points to finish fourth overall at the 2005 NCAA Championships, also a program-best, to start what would be a three-crown performance for the Sun Devils during the 2005-06 academic year. Amy Hastings led the way for the women as she placed 13th overall and became the first Arizona State cross country runner (male and female) to earn three All-America honors in a career, adding to the national awards she earned in 2005 and 2004. Hastings was followed across the finish line by Jenna Kingma, who placed 42nd overall and Anna Masinelli, who took 46th place. The Top 5 scorers on the team were rounded out by Victoria Jackson (60th place) and Rachel Ellison (95th place) while Cassie Rios (146th place) and Corey Randall (185th place) also competed for the team in Terre Haute, Ind.

On the strength of two individual national titles, the women's team scored 30 total points to earn their first track trophy and the second NCAA trophy of the season for the program following the meet in Fayetteville, Ark. After placing second as a freshman in 2004, Jacquelyn Johnson won her second NCAA crown, this time capturing the pentathlon (4,287 points) to score 10 point for the team. She was followed by Amy Hastings, who won her first NCAA crown by taking the 5,000m run (15:51.63) to add 10 more points to the till. The team earned its remaining 10 points with six from Sarah Stevens (17.91m), who finished third in the shot put with her school-record toss; three points came from Jenna Kingma, who took sixth in the 3,000m run (9:16.13), with the final point coming from Victoria Jackson's eighth-place finish in the 5,000m run (16:14.90).

2006 Women's Indoor Track & Field
Placed third at the NCAA Championships

2006 Women's Outdoor Track & Field
Placed tied for fourth at the NCAA Championships

One month removed from winning their first Pac-10 team title, the women once again turned in a strong showing on the national level to garner their third team trophy of the year, tying for fourth-place with Nebraska as both teams scored 37 points. A two-title performance again led the way as Jacquelyn Johnson won her second NCAA heptathlon crown and third national multi-event title in a row, this time with 5,939 points, while Victoria Jackson cruised to a victory in the 10,000m run in a school-record 32:54.72. The indoor 5,000m champion, Amy Hastings, placed fourth in the 10,000m event (33:41.18) while Sarah Stevens placed fourth in the shot put (17.09m) for her second All-America honor of the year. The final seven points came from Jessica Pressley, who placed fourth fifth in the discus (53.64m) and sixth in the shot put (16.59m).

PAC-10 CHAMPIONSHIP QUALIFYING

In years past, student-athletes would have to meet qualification standards during the season in order to earn a berth into the Pac-10 Championships. Starting in 2005, that all changed. Prior to the meet, each team's head coach will select no more than 28 men and 28 women to represent his/her team. Although there is no limit to the number of events each athlete can enter, there is one limitation: each team may only enter up to eight athletes per event (or the number of athletes cannot exceed the number of scoring positions of the event).

THE SUN ANGEL TRACK CLASSIC

Arizona State's men's and women's track and field teams celebrate their 31st year at Sun Angel Stadium, which opened in time for the 1976 season at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Sun Angel Stadium has hosted seven conference championship meets in its 30-year history. The 1979, 1991 and 1999 Pac-10 Championships were held at Sun Angel Stadium in addition to the 1986 Pacific West Conference Championships, the 1976 Western Athletic Conference Championships, the 1983 Big Sky Conference Championships and the 1978 Intermountain Conference meet.

The facility is also home to the Sun Angel Track Classic, now in its 28th season. Dozens of Olympians from numerous countries have competed at the previous 27 Sun Angel Track Classics, making the meet a world class event.

From its humble beginnings as the Sun Devil Relays, created by former ASU Senior Associate Athletic Director Herman Frazier and Charlie Wells, the Classic has seen the likes of Leroy Burrell, Tony Dees, Gail Devers, Tim Harden, Floyd Heard, Nick Hysong, Jackie Joyner Kersee, Jeff Laynes, Carl Lewis, Jud Logan, Mike Marsh, Inger Miller, Dennis Mitchell, Dan O'Brien, Anna Sorderberg, Lynda Tolbert-Goode and Quincy Watts, to name a few.

Joe Selleh Track underwent a facelift in 1996. The university budgeted $500,000 for the project and an additional $200,000 was raised by the athletic department through the Sun Devil Club. As a result, there are nine 48-inch lanes, dual long and triple jump runways, three throwing areas and two high jump pits.

The west side seating is constructed of pre-stressed concrete, 45 rows in height, with all seating equidistant to the finish line. The seating capacity exceeds 5,000, and the east side of the track has the space for an additional 4,000 seats with movable bleachers.

In 1999, a new scoreboard and timing system were put in place and a student-athlete clubhouse is scheduled to be added as part of Arizona State University's $400-million Campaign for Leadership, which includes $25 million for athletic facility improvements.

Tim McBurney (left), the 2003 Sun Angel Classic honoree, is presented his honor by legendary Sun Devil coach Baldy Castillo.

Holds several marks in the Decathlon

Joe Selleh Track has not only been the home of the Sun Devil track and field program, it also has been the home for several spectacular marks. Former Arizona State athletes hold 14 of the top times/marks. Most recently, Lisa Aguilera (2003) set the women's steeplechase mark. In 2004, New York Athletic Club's Erin Gilreath launched the hammer 72.12m (236-7 feet) to not only break the facility record, but also establish the American record in the event. In 2005, three records fell, including the men's 400m hurdles, women's 200m dash and women's pole vault, all during the Sun Angel Classic.

ASU'S PAC-10 CHAMPIONSHIP HIGH POINT AWARD

The Pac-10 Championship High Point Award, researched by the Arizona State coaching staff in 2002, annually recognizes the individual efforts of one male and one female athlete's performances at the conference's outdoor championship meet. The men, competing since 1979, and the women, competing in the event since 1987, have had several outstanding performers with two leading the pack.

Dwight Phillips, the 2004 Olympic long jump Gold Medalist, leads both genders with his 26.5 points accumulated in 2000. He entered four events, three as an individual, and placed in the Top 3 in each one. Phillips won the long jump title, finished as the runner-up in the 100-meter dash and was third in the triple jump. Along with LaVell Robinson-Blanchard, Jim McGee and Marcus Brunson, Phillips also walked away from the meet with a conference championship in the 4x100-meter relay.

At the 2006 meet, Jacquelyn Johnson reset the standard by scoring 29 points, four more than the previous record set by Maicel Malone in 1988. Her point total also is the most scored by a Sun Devil, male and female, at the championships meet. Johnson scored 10 points by winning the heptathlon before earning eight points for her second-place showing in the high jump, six points for finishing third in the 100m hurdles and three points for her sixth-place showing in the long jump. Johnson picked up her final two points by helping the 4x400m relay team to runner-up honors.

NCAA Success

Arizona State's cross country program has continued to shine in recent years, including another solid season in 2006. The women advanced to their ninth-consecutive NCAA Championships appearance, the sixth-longest active streak among women's programs nationally, where they finished 13th overall to mark the fourth year in a row the Sun Devils placed among the Top 15 nationally. On the men's side, Aaron Aguayo qualified for the national meet as an individual competitor after taking runner-up honors at the regional meet. In Terre Haute, Aguayo placed ninth overall to not only earn his second All-America honor in cross country, but also record the highest finish at the national meet in men's program history. All told, the Sun Devil program has accumulated six All-America honors, one trophy and six Top 20 team finishes in the past four seasons.

NCAA CHAMPIONS

Lynda Tolbert

Outdoor 4x100m Relay – 1988

Outdoor 100m Hurdles – 1988 & 1990

Indoor 55m Hurdles – 1990

Prior to Maicel Malone's winnings over the next three years, Tolbert's four national titles was the most decorated Sun Devil track & field athlete in program history. Tolbert ranks second all-time in Sun Devil history with four crowns as well as three individual titles.

Henry Carr

Outdoor 220y Dash – 1963

One of the fastest sprinters in school history, Carr won the 220-yard dash in 1963, taking the crown in 20.5, the school record at the time. He currently stands second on the all-time list in 200m/220y event at 20.31.

Coleen Rienstra

Outdoor High Jump – 1980 & 1981

Indoor High Jump – 1981

The first multiple champion in women's program history, Rienstra swept the high jump during the 1981 season after winning her first title outdoors in 1980. Her indoor win marked the first indoor title won in program history (men and women).

Herman Frazier

Outdoor 4x400m Relay – 1976

Outdoor 400m Dash – 1977

Frazier, a US Olympic Champion as well, anchored the 4x400m relay team to gold at the 1976 meet, marking the first relay title in program history. One year later, Frazier won the 400m dash in 45.51 to help the Sun Devils to the 1977 NCAA Team Championship.

Alex Henderson
2 Mile Run – 1959

Henderson was the first NCAA Champion in program history when he won the two mile race in 8:46.8 at the meet held in Berkeley, Calif.

Dana Collins
Outdoor Pentathlon – 1977

Collins was the first overall national champion and individual national champion for the women's program, capturing the pentathlon with 4,092 points.

Victoria Jackson
Outdoor 10,000m Run – 2006

The latest national champion for the Sun Devils, Jackson covered the course in 32:54.72, a school record, to capture a title in the longest race in program history, surpassing the two-mile run in 1959 by Alex Henderson and the 400m dash by Maicel Malone in 1992.

1977 Men's Team Champions

The team boasted two individual national champions in Herman Frazier (400m) and Kyle Arney (high jump) while seven individuals and two relays earned All-America status. The title was won with 64 points as the Sun Devils edged out UTEP by 14 points for the gold.

1977 NCAA Track & Field Champion

In 1977, 13 Arizona State student-athletes traveled to Champaign, Ill., for the NCAA Track and Field Championships. Entering as underdogs to finish in the Top 3 and returning to the Valley of the Sun as the top team in the nation, nine student-athletes earned All-America honors with Herman Frazier (400m) and Kyle Arney (High Jump) winning individual national titles. The Sun Devils accumulated 64 points to win the title by 14 points with UTEP taking second after scoring 50 points.

At the end of Thursday's long jump qualifying, when the field was narrowed to 12, freshman Dennie Jackson was told that he had finished 13th. He went off into the stands and sat down by himself. A double check showed he had finished 12th. Kyle Arney went to give his team-

Devils Claim Track Crown

By SKIP BRYANT

When everyone is eyeing everyone else suspiciously someone is likely to sneak in and make off with the family jewels.

So it was last weekend at the Illinois campus as the Arizona State track and field team slipped into town and championship trophy at the 56th annual NCAA meet.

Thanks to a tremendous mental lift provided by senior Rick Walker and freshman Dannie Jackson on Friday the inspired Sun Devils rolled up 52 points Saturday to claim their first track title with an overall

But the manner in which the Sun Devils pulled off the feat is what made it all so surprising.

A crowd of supporters met the victorious track team at Sky Harbor Airport yesterday.

Bringing Home The Title

The rest of the nation's college track and field coaches were amazed Saturday when they watched Arizona State win the NCAA championship in Champaign, Ill.

Why? Because coach Baldy Castillo didn't have to go out of the country for any of his point-scorers in a meet that is becoming a year.

FROM STAFF REPORTS

Arizona State had five individual champions crowned over the weekend and the women's team captured the title Sunday at the 2006 Pac-10 track and field championships in Eugene, Ore.

The women racked up 154 points to defeat runner-up and 2005 champion Stanford (151.50) in winning their first conference title. On the men's side, the Sun Devils placed sixth

They've been playing this Pac-10 Track and Field Championship game since 1957. But the closest Arizona State women's team ever came to getting a hold of the big prize was a series of relatively distant third places.

Until Sunday at Hayward Field.

The Sun Devils, pressed to the very end by defending champion Stanford, ended their 29-year title drought with a two-day total of 154 points.

Stanford, led by the only woman to win consecutive Pac-10 long jump and triple jump titles — Anna McLean — was just 2½ points behind with 151.50.

USC, led by Virginia Powell's third straight 100-meter title and second 100 hurdles championship in a row, finished third with 121 points, one point ahead of fourth-place UCLA.

USC's Powell, who won the shot put and discus titles, said a winning Arizona team coach Glen Koff, "I've not seen this before."

in the 10,000. "The Pac-10 cross country championship came down to the last 100 meters and Stanford got it. This time, we got them."

The state relay effort started around the start for ASU moments after the conclusion of the 10,000.

"Stanford was strong but I think we were stronger," said Williams, who was second in the 800 hurdles.

The Sun Devils had a 20-point advantage after Saturday, but the gap continually narrowed between the team from the Arizona desert and the one from down on the coast.

After 14 events, ASU's lead had deteriorated to less than 10 points. It fell to less than 10 points a short time later. With the 4,000 relay left, Arizona State's advantage over Stanford was just 10 points.

"We lost some people, had a couple of blaws," said McLean, the Stanford sophomore. "I don't think we expected to be that close of a race and for us to not quite make it."

WOMEN'S FINALS

Arizona State, never a champion in Pac-10 Conference women's track and field, made an impressive run at that elusive title, piling up 824 points on Saturday, the first day of the two-day meet at Hayward Field.

After eight events, including an early heptathlon, the Sun Devils march into today's final championship chase well ahead of second-place Oregon, which has 90 points.

Defending champion Stanford was third at 49 points and UCLA fourth at 38.

As good as Day 1 was, the Devils wanted more.

ASU's steeple people dominate

With two laps remaining in the men's 3,000-meter steeplechase, Arizona State's Ryan Warrenburg made a strong push toward the heels of teammate Aaron Aguayo.

MEN'S FINALS

A few steps later, Aguayo was in the clear again, leaving Warrenburg — and Pac-10 history — in his wake.

Aguayo became the first man to win three consecutive steeplechase titles at the Pac-10 Track and Field Championships, running away from the wire-to-wire victory in 8 minutes, 35.94 seconds Saturday afternoon at Hayward Field.

"I was trying to get up there, but I didn't hold that for long," said Warrenburg, who placed second in 8:39.82 to give the Sun Devils 18 team points.

different kind of toughness, he's one of the toughest run I know," Warrenburg said.

Aguayo is seeded second today's 5,000-meter final; 1 remburg is seeded third.

In the shot put, USC's Noah Bryant couldn't beat watch Sean Shields attempt final throw of the event.

Holding onto a slim lead Bryant turned his back Shields, the defending champion from Arizona, made his 1 throw.

As the shot hit its mark Bryant turned to take a pee and saw that it had fallen short.

"I was really worried," Bryant, who held on for the with a throw of 64 feet, inches, a 1% by more the foot. "I've seen (Shields) c back before."

Bryant said he's been doing Shields since they a high school freshman in So California.

"This might be the first t he said.
