2005-06 ARIZONA STATE MEN'S BASKETBALL FINAL RELEASE

April, 2006

JUNIOR KEVIN KRUGER AND FRESHMAN JEFF PENDERGRAPH EARN PAC-10 CONFERENCE HONORS FOR SUN DEVILS DURING 2005-06 SEASON

SUN DEVIL DATA: The Arizona State University men's basketball team (11-17; 5-13 in the Pac-10 Conference) closed its 2005-06 season on March 8 with a 71-68 loss to Oregon State in the Pac-10 Tournament. After starting Pac-10 play 1-9, ASU went 4-5 in its final nine games as freshman Jeff Pendergraph continued to impress and improve. The Pac-10 All-Freshman Team honoree averaged 14.7 ppg. (second on team) and led ASU in rebounding (8.0 rpg.) and double-doubles (four) in that time. ASU finished first in the Pac-10 in three-point percentage for just the second time in school history at 37.8 percent (158-of-418), its best mark since the 1988-89 squad set the school mark with a .430 clip and also led the league. It also allowed 69.9 points per game, its best defensive mark since the 1991-92 team gave up 69.1 points per game.

NEW COACH: Herb Sendek will take over the Sun Devils in 2006-07, as the former NC State and Miami (Ohio) mentor has 13 seasons of head coaching experience and led the Wolfpack to five straight NCAA appearances from 2002-06. Sendek is 253-158 (.647) in 13 seasons and was 191-132 (.591) at NC State. The 43-year old Pittsburgh, Pa., native will be second-youngest coach in the Pac-10 next year behind only first-year head coach Tony Bennett of Washington State, yet his 253 careers wins is fourth in the league.

MORE PENDERGRAPH: Jeff Pendergraph, a member of the Pac-10 All-Freshman Team, worked himself into shape after missing all of the fall conditioning and most of November due to surgery to remove a benign tumor in his left leg. Pendergraph finished fourth in the Pac-10 in field goal percentage in league games shooting 51.5 percent (87-of-169). Among Pac-10 freshman, he was second in the league in points per game (10.9), third in rebounds (6.1), third in field goal percentage (.494) and first in blocks (0.85). Pendergraph had 15 double-figure scoring games (eight of final nine) and averaged 13.0 points and 8.3 boards in the final six games. Since the calendar turned to 2006, Pendergraph averaged 12.6 points and 6.6 rebounds in those 17 games. ASU's two most recent All-Freshman honorees are both playing in the NBA (Ike Diogu in 2002-03 and Eddie House in 1996-97).

KRUGER LEADING: Junior Kevin Kruger, who earned honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors and was a second-team NABC District 15 selection, was among the Pac-10 top-10 in minutes per game (38.96/first), three-point field goals made per game (2.89/first), free throw percentage (.810/sixth), steals (1.50 pg/sixth), assist-to-turnover ratio (1.34/ninth), scoring (15.0 ppg./ninth), three-point percentage (.378/fouth) and assists (3.54 pg/tenth). He played 11 40-minute games on the year, including seven of the final 11 contests, and averaged 40.2 minutes in the final 12 games after the Feb. 18 50-minute effort at California in the double overtime win. His 38.96 minutes per game tied for second in the nation. He played 1,091 out of 1,140 possible minutes this year (95.7 percent), which was second in the nation. Kruger's 81 three-pointers made this year is the fourth-best mark in school history, while his 201 three-point attempts is the seventh-most.

KRUGER'S PAC-10 RANKINGS: Kevin Kruger was the only player to rank in the top-10 in eight Pac-10 categories this past year, as five players were ranked in the top-10 in six of the 13 categories. Kruger and Malik Hairston of Oregon shared the distinction of being the highest scoring players (each averaged 15.0 points per game) to not earn All-Pac-10 honors (both made honorable mention). Kruger led the league in minutes per game (38.96) and three-point field goals made per game (2.89), one of just two players to lead the league in more than one category. Leon Powe of California led the Pac-10 in scoring, rebounding, offensive rebounds and defensive rebounds.

F	42	Chad Goldstein	6-9/210	2.8	1.9	Played in 19 games in freshman year last year

FRESHMEN NOTES: Jeff Pendergraph and Sylvester Seay each scored 21 points vs. Oregon on Feb. 11, the first time in ASU history two freshmen have scored 20 points in the same game. Against Stanford on Jan. 21, Pendergraph looked every bit of the part of a future big-time player with 14 points (7-of-8 shooting), three rebounds and two blocks in just 10 minutes. On the defensive end, Stanford senior and All-Pac-10 performer Matt Haryasz, the conference's sixth-best scorer and second-best rebounder, was 1-of-4 from the floor and had one rebound, but at the 7:44 mark of the first half Pendergraph sprained his right ankle and would be done for the night. Haryasz went on to finish with 27 points (8-of-12 after the injury) and 10 boards (nine after the injury) as Stanford won 70-64.

OTHER FRESHMAN: Sylvester Seay was in on the freshman-does-well act, as in the final 13 games he averaged 7.2 points and 17.6 minutes. In that time he also has 10 blocks and eight steals. He played a season-high 30 minutes vs. Oregon on Feb. 11 and had 21 points and five boards and was 8-of-13 (.615) from the floor. In the final nine games, Seay averaged seven points and 16.7 minutes.

MAKING SHOTS: ASU led the league in three-point percentage, hitting 158-of-418 (.378), bolstered by Kevin Krugers 81-of-201 (.403) and Bryson Krueger's 48-of-124 (.387). The Sun Devils hit free throws as well, as Kevin Kruger finished at 81.0 percent (98-of-121) and Bryson Krueger, after going to the line just 28 times in 2004-05, finished at 87.7 percent (50-of-57). ASU finished fourth in the Pac-10 in free throw percentage, hitting on 72.2 percent (410-of-568), the eighth-best mark in school history.

POINT: Sophomore Antwi Atuahene averaged 7.1 points, 3.6 boards and 3.9 assists in 25.7 minutes per game (third on the team). In the final 16 games he averaged 29.4 minutes (third on the team), 7.8 points (fourth on team) and 4.6 assists, with a career-high 21 points at Oregon on Jan. 12 and a career-high in minutes (42) at Oregon State on Jan. 14, including the game-winning shot with eight seconds left in OT. He also had a career-high five steals against Arizona on Jan. 25 and posted 10 assists vs. Oregon on Feb. 11, the most by a Sun Devil in the previous 67 games (Jason Braxton had 12 at USC on Jan. 17, 2004).

CLOSE: After playing (but losing) back-to-back one-pointers for the first time since 1982-83 on Jan. 5-7, ASU got a win with its 65-63 overtime win at Oregon State (Jan. 14) and then followed that up with a 65-64 double-overtime win at NCAA-bound California on Feb. 18, as ASU is 7-4 in road overtime games in the past eight years. The Sun Devils lost 66-65 to USC on Jan. 5 as Lodrick Stewart's only bucket was when he hit a three-pointer with seconds remaining to give the Trojans the win. ASU was leading UCLA 60-59 with under 10 seconds left on Jan. 7, but Jordan Farmar hit a runner to give UCLA a 61-60 win. ASU's last back-to-back one-pointers came on Jan. 10, 1983, (87-86 loss to sixth-ranked UCLA) and Jan. 13, 1983, (75-74 at Washington State).

DEFENSE: ASU had two of its best defensive efforts against the league's best two shooting teams in mid-January. Oregon State entered its ASU game on Jan. 14 at 53.4 percent in Pac-10 games, but ASU held the Beavers to just 22-of-56 (.393) in Gill Coliseum. On Jan. 7 against UCLA, ASU held the Pac-10 champion Bruins to 18-of-50 (.360) and just 1-of-15 (.067) from the three-point stripe.

BAD LUCK: Senior Allen Morill missed the remainder of the year after having microfracture surgery on his left knee on Dec. 19. Morill had played in the first seven games (starting in two) and averaged 15.7 minutes before his injury. He posted a career-high 14 points against Alcorn State on Nov. 26 and had 10 points and nine boards in 29 minutes vs. Minnesota on Dec. 5. At the time of the injury, Morill was the second-most experienced Sun Devil (57 career games), as ASU had just one senior (Tyrone Jackson) on the roster the rest of the season.

THAT IS NOT ALL: In addition to Morill's season-ending injury, others missed games and many practices. Serge Angounou, a two-year starter, suffered a bone bruise on his left knee in practice on Dec. 4 and missed the next two games (both losses) and practiced on a limited basis all season. Freshman Jeff Pendergraph had a benign tumor removed in the fall from his left femur and did not get any conditioning or practice until November, as he missed both exhibitions and the first game of the season. Sophomore Antwi Atuahene did not miss a regular season game due to a nasal fracture suffered in November, but he missed the second exhibition game and some practices and had to wear a mask until mid-January to protect his nose. And while freshman Chad Goldstein could not play in in the first six games after transferring last year from UC-Davis, it didn't stop him from catching the injury bug. He broke his nose in the fall and wore a mask in practice and in his first game at Iowa on Dec. 17. Two days later, in his first practice, his nose was broken again.

IN THE NBA: Three Sun Devils made NBA rosters in 2005-06, as 2005 Lottery pick (ninth overall) and 2005 Pac-10 Player of the Year Ike Diogu (Golden State Warriors), is joined by 1999-2000 Pac-10 Player of the Year Eddie House (Phoenix Suns) and Awvee Storey (Washington Wizards), the Pac-10's leading rebounder in 2000-2001. Diogu became ASU's seventh first-round pick and the first since Mario Bennett went to Phoenix in 1995 (27th overall). Diogu is the highest Sun Devil drafted since Byron Scott went fourth in 1983.

20-POINT KIDS: Jeff Pendergraph became just the fourth ASU freshmen in the past nine years to notch 20-points when he posted 20 vs. Utah Valley State on Dec. 10 and he also posted 21 against Oregon on Feb. 11. Only Ike Diogu (12 in 2002-03), Kevin Kruger (two as a redshirt freshman in 2003-04) and Tanner Shell (one in 1999-2000) have notched 20 points since the 1997-98 season in their freshman season.

PAC-10 POLL: Results of the Pac-10 media poll, announced in November: 1. UA; 2. Stanford; 3. UCLA; 4. UW; 5. Cal; 6. Oregon; 7. OSU; 8. USC; 9. WSU; 10. Arizona State.

NEVER AN EASY OPENER: With Arizona winning the 2005 Pac-10 title, the 2004-05 season marked the fourth time in the previous six that ASU opened the season with an eventual Pac-10 champion, as ASU faced the eventual Pac-10 champion three straight years in its Pac-10 opener from 2000-2002, facing Stanford in 1999-2000 and 2000-2001 and then opening with Oregon in 2001-2002. ASU opened Pac-10 play on Dec. 29 at 2005 Pac-10 Tournament champion, then-undefeated and seventh-ranked Washington and fell 91-67, and the Huskies finished second in the league this year. This year also marked the sixth time in eight years ASU opened Pac-10 play on the road, and the two home games were against top-five teams. ASU fell to No. 2 Stanford on Jan. 4, 2000, in Tempe, and to fourth-ranked Arizona 93-74 on Jan. 3, 2003.

FALL SIGNINGS: The ASU men's basketball program signed two student-athletes in the fall signing period. George Odufuwa (Kimball High School/Dallas, Texas) and Christian Polk (Deer Valley High School/Glendale, Ariz.). are expected to join the Sun Devils in the fall of 2006.

Odufuwa is a 6-8, 240-pound forward who averaged 19.7 points, 10.6 rebounds and two blocks in his junior year playing for coach Royce Johnson. He earned All-District 13 (4A) and All Region II first-team honors and second-team All-Metro. He is ranked as the fourth-best power forward in Texas this year by TexasHoops.com and is ranked as the 16th-best power forward in the nation by Rivals.com.

Polk helped lead Deer Valley, coached by John Fellens, to a 30-2 record last season as he averaged 15.1 points, second on the team, 4.5 assists and 1.9 steals on a squad that had two other players sign Division-I letters of intent last fall. He posted 10 20-point games as the Skyhawks were 14-0 in the conference. He posted double digits in his final 19 games, averaging 17.5 points per game in that time. Polk has earned second-team Best in the West honors by the Long Beach Press Telegram in its November of 2005 annual rankings. His Deer Valley squad lost in overtime to Mesa Mountain View in the Class 5A semifinals. He was ranked 85th in the nation by Hoop Alliance this past summer. He also earned 5A All-Arizona second-team honors by the Arizona Republic last year, joining current Sun Devil Chad Goldstein, who was a first-team pick.

He earned MVP honors of the Reebok/Arizona Preps Fall Showcase held at Grand Canyon University in October, a seven-year event with more than 200 players this past fall.
